OUR SCHOOL

LOCKPORT TOWNSHIP HIGH SCHOOL was founded in 1909. Because of the increasing population, the building was enlarged in 1925. A major addition, constructed in 1930, included the gymnasium, with a seating capacity of 1600, and the trophy room. Highest standards were met when, in 1941, our swimming pool was opened. Our increasing population again necessitates a larger building.

Because of the foresightedness of the original planner and the many modern additions, we have one of the finest school buildings in the state. Indeed, we are proud of "our school."

● Lockport Township High School, before its first addition in 1925.

● Our school of today.

● Ground-breaking for the 1930 addition.

SUPERINTENDENT JAMES M. SMITH, B.A., M.A.

DEDICATION

COMPLETING his twenty-fifth year at Lockport Township High School, Superintendent James M. Smith has established an enviable record characterized by efficiency and prudence.

Since becoming superintendent, Mr. Smith has promoted vast improvements in our school, such as the organization of the National Honor Society, the National Athletic Scholarship Society, the Times, the Lock, the Athletic Board of Control, and the development of an excellent modern curriculum which has placed Lockport Township High School among the outstanding high schools in the state. The curriculum insures the best possible education for all students, not only for those who attend college but also for those who seek employment.

The enrollment has increased from 229 in 1925, to 622 in 1950. The larger part of the present building, including the gymnasium, was added in 1930, and the swimming pool was completed in 1941.

Our superintendent is a past president of the Northeastern Division of the Illinois Education Association, and of the Will County Superintendents' and Principals' Association. He is also a member of the Board of Governors of the Illinois Association for the Crippled, and the first vice-president of the Will County Tuberculosis Association.

Having been so active in Illinois education, Mr. Smith has received the honor of being included in "Who's Who in American Education," "Who's Who in the Central States," and "Who's Who in Illinois." Recently he was appointed to the Lewis College Board of Advisors, and to the Silver Cross Hospital Board of Trustees.

Surely, for this unique record, Mr. Smith has earned from us the heartiest of congratulations on his Silver Anniversary. To him we proudly dedicate this, the twenty-fifth edition of the Lock.

THE LOCK

Through the Years Lock Staffs Develop Individual Skills . . .

As this year progressed, we, the members of the Lock staff, learned to develop our skills in the compiling of our yearbook, the Twenty-fifth Anniversary Edition, just as previous staffs did in their editions. It is only through experience that one fully appreciates the efforts entailed in the editing of an annual.

The Lock was begun by the Class of 1925-1926. The first eleven annuals were sponsored by Miss Elsie H. Bucher, the next nine by James M. Stephenson, who is now the yearbook photographer, and the last four by the present sponsor, Miss Mildred H. Krusa. Much progress has been made in succeeding issues in the past twenty-five years.

Lockport High's first annual was a paper-backed book of seventy-two literary and pictorial pages, and twenty-three pages of advertisements and witticisms. It was financed mainly by proceeds from the senior play, by showing movies in the auditorium, by advertisements, and by yearbook subscriptions. Its staff included sixteen seniors, a junior, a sophomore, and a freshman, with Cora Ernst (Winston) as editor-in-chief, assisted by Elda Trask and August Lund. Florence Seaborg (Lund) was the business manager.

This year's annual was financed mainly by subscriptions, school dances, proceeds from a coke machine, and by an allotment set aside by our Board of Education to eliminate book advertising. Anne Brankey and Carolyn Winkler were co-editors of our staff of twenty-nine members, which included twenty-four seniors, four juniors, and one sophomore. Barbara Cronholm and Miss Marilyn R. Richards served as business manager and literary assistant, respectively.

For the past several years, the Lock has won national honors in yearbook contests. Included have been two "Medalists" and one "All American," the highest honors available.

We take great pride in presenting this Silver Anniversary Edition in which we have portrayed the progress of our school during the past quarter century, and recorded the life and activities of the Lockport Township High School student. To the following people, who aided us by lending us pictures, we wish to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation: Mr. and Mrs. August Lund, Miss Willa Collett, Miss Elda Trask, Mrs. Elizabeth Troxell, Martin W. Taylor, Miss Margaret C. Shepherd, Superintendent James M. Smith, Clinton O. Bismarck, William H. Sterling, and Lester L. Lindberg. We also thank our sponsors, Harrington Studio, the Pontiac Engraving and Electrotpe Company, the S. K. Smith Cover Company, and The Ogren Press for their cooperation and interest in this publication.

product. David Brück, Evelyn Pesavento, Signa Mettelle, Norma Wilhelmi, and Circulation Chairman Richard Eichhorn are ready to promote sales. Mary

Ann Viskocil, Marjorie Kesser, Chairman Marie Pleski, and Roberta Martin, copywriters, playfully copy by pen instead of by typewriter during a "lull."

THE PEOPLE

Among the people in this section that we proudly honor are Clinton O. Bismarck, Margaret C. Shepherd, and William H. Sterling. Mr. Bismarck and Mr. Sterling, science and industrial arts instructors, respectively, have been capable members of our faculty for the past twenty-eight years. Miss Shepherd holds a fine record of twenty-five years of service as our librarian.

As many things advance through the years, so also have our student enrollment and faculty personnel. The latter has increased from sixteen in 1925, to twenty-six in 1950. Our student enrollment has almost tripled from the 229 in 1925, to our present 622.

ADMINISTRATION

Superintendent James M. Smith, B.A., M.A.

Mr. Smith, in 1925

Our Superintendent Speaks . . .

We are witnessing the dawning of a new era in history—the era of the atom. It can be an era of great advancement with untold blessings for mankind, or it can be an era of mass destruction. What it will be will depend largely upon the kind of education we give to the youth of our day.

The primary purpose of education in our school is to train all pupils to be good citizens.

Our children are our greatest national asset. What America will be tomorrow depends largely upon the type of training our young people receive today. It must be a training that recognizes the worth and dignity of the individual; it must be a training that is mentally, morally, spiritually, and physically sound; it must be an education that seeks the highest good for all. This is our task.

Now That I Need You . . .

The necessity of a properly functioning office was capably filled by our friendly and efficient secretaries, Miss Marjorie A. Fredrickson and Miss Jane A. Eungard. In 1925 Miss Edith Ostrom performed the many office duties.

SECRETARIES: Miss Jane A. Eungard operates the ditto machine while Miss Marjorie A. Fredrickson refers to the files.

Civic Leaders Plan School Policies . . .

The Board of Education, headed by Marion M. DeSandre, has indeed been a "board of planning" this year. As the policy makers of our school, they have had numerous duties to perform, many of which pertained to a new addition to our building.

In 1925, as today, our school board was composed of six of the city's civic-minded leaders. The members were President Herbert A. Godfrey, Murray A. Ladd, Joseph Hyland, Dr. Leonard F. Roblee, Gilbert Pierce, and Secretary William W. North. The only other board member to serve as president during the past twenty-five years was Edward F. Worst. Then, as now, acting as guardians of our school, these men supervised the democracy and leadership so important in our educational system.

Edward F. Worst (deceased), Board of Education president for twelve years.

BOARD OF EDUCATION: Superintendent James M. Smith, Dr. Robert J. Rock, Carl E. Munson, President Marion M. DeSandre, Dr. Emil J. Viskocil, Joseph Bolattino, and Secretary John D. Lynch pose for the photograph during a monthly board meeting.

Mrs. Anne R. Ramsey, R.N., home nursing.

Home Economics and Home Nursing

Top: "If I knew you were coming I'd've baked a cake" could easily be the theme song of Marie Nelson, Joyce Reiter, Norma Simpson, Bonnie Becker, and Joyce Grohar. Bottom: Carolyn Latz serves Phyllis Marquardt and Joan Liker.

Future Homemakers of America . . .

Oh! Boy! What's that good smell? Why that's the cooking class. Yes, under the supervision of Mrs. Marion K. Morrison, many girls learned to prepare delicious well-balanced meals. Not only practical things were done, but also cookies and other such delicacies were perfected. If these girls learned their lessons well, there will be no need for baking soda or "Tums." They are on the road to being good cooks.

In personal grooming, directed by Mrs. Morrison, girls studied appropriate costumes for an individual, proper make-up, attractive styles, speech, and correct walking, plus other things which will help to make them more attractive. Is it any wonder that we have so many lovely girls at L.T.H.S.?

Family living, a new class for senior girls, was added to the department this year. This course taught the girls necessary things about the care of the home that a future housewife and mother should know.

Top: Frances Mescher pins a hem for Alice Palmer. Joyce Schultz helps Mary Alice Meurer cut out a pattern for a new spring dress. Bottom: June Welter sets the table. Looks fine, but Celia Strahanoski is taking no chances as she takes Jean Rowley's temperature.

If anyone is sick, just call a member of the home nursing class, for Mrs. Anne R. Ramsey has taught her class the correct care for the sick or injured. Anything from a tourniquet or an effective bandage, to an attractive tray can be taken care of by these girls. They are prepared to meet any emergency which might arise.

All this training adds up to one thing: efficient homemakers for the future.

Science and Mathematics

Courses Lay Cornerstone for Understanding of Atomic Age . . .

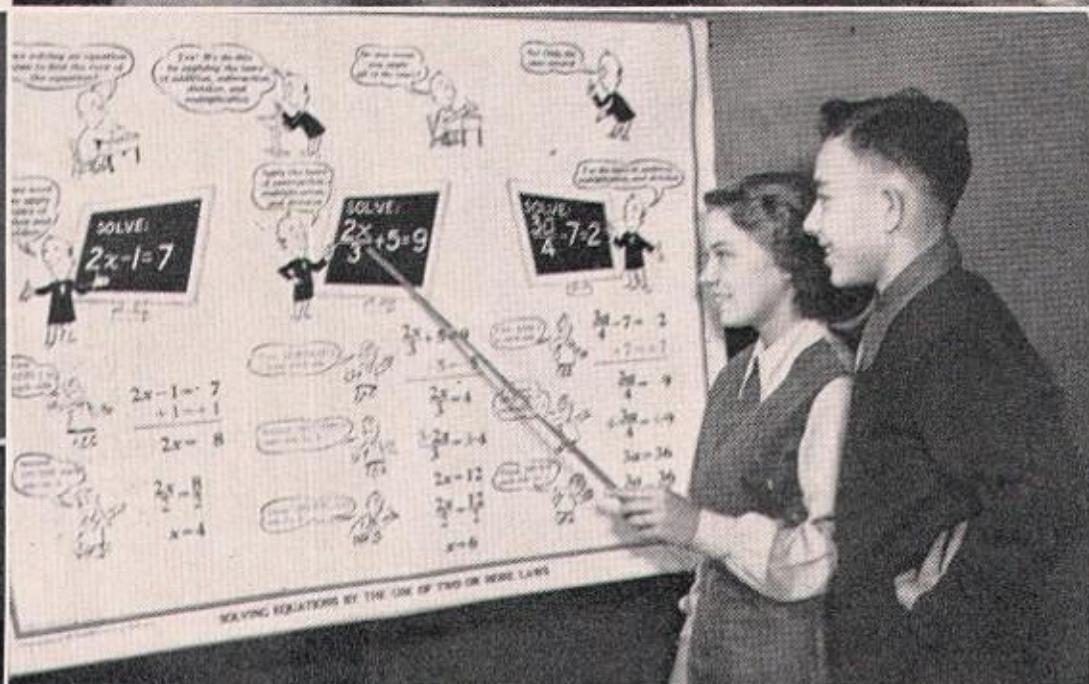

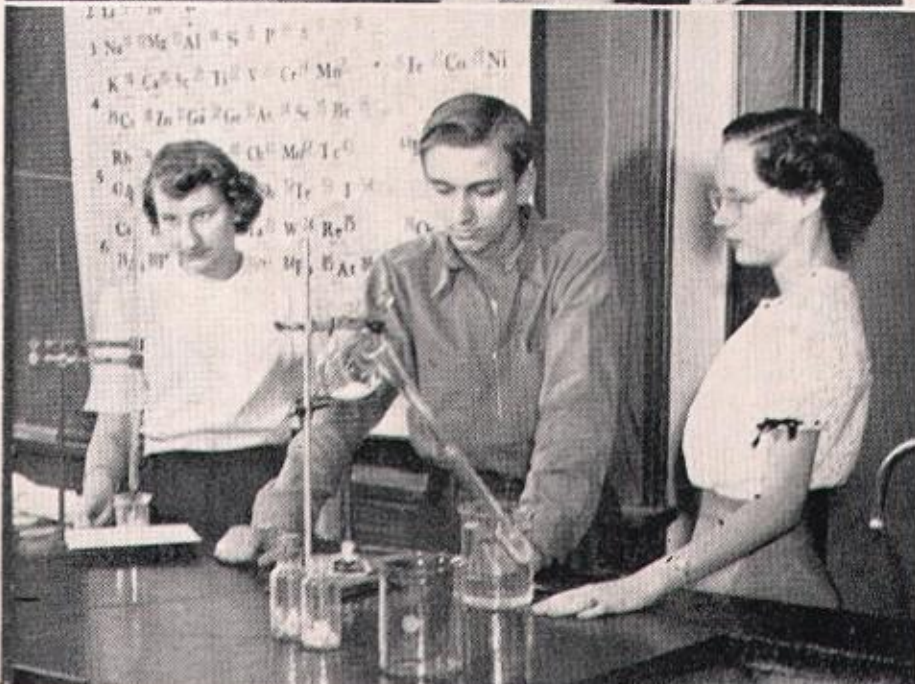

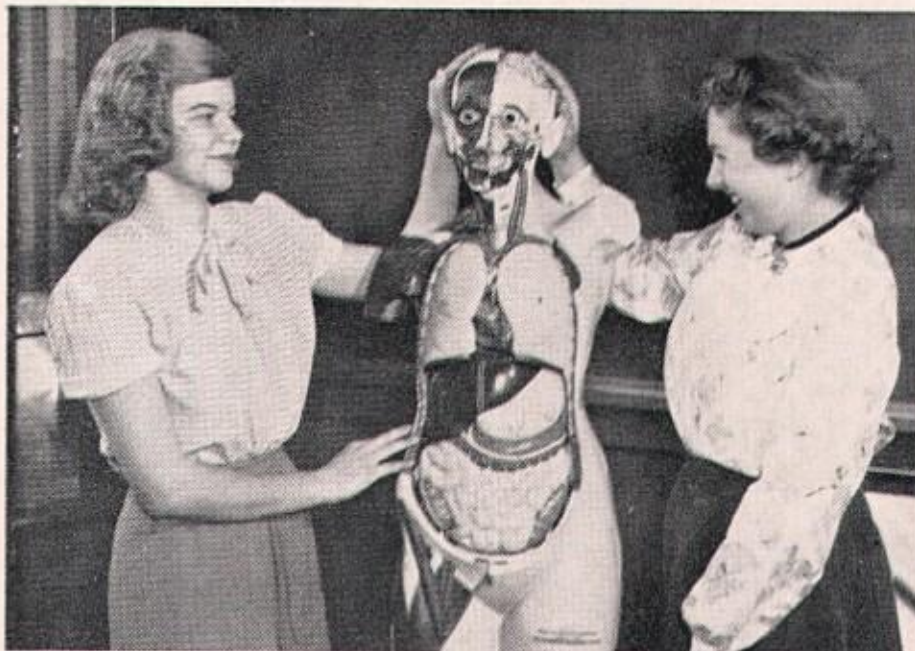

Who knows but what we have a future Einstein in our science and math classes at L.T.H.S.? Anyway, Clinton O. Bismarck, Miss Lorina E. Goerz, and Daymond J. Aiken did their best to familiarize their pupils with all the fundamentals necessary to success in these fields.

Freshmen received a taste of science in the general science course taught by Mr. Bismarck and Miss Goerz, which gave them an inkling of what is to come in advanced science classes.

Nature lovers learned to identify many forms of plants and animals during biology class under the supervision of Mr. Bismarck. These students also found a whole new world opened to them as they peered into a microscope at colonies of bacteria. Another phase of this course was dissecting and drawing parts of frogs, fish, and insects which proved very interesting.

Top: Hope Israelson and Marguerite Timm learn what makes the human body tick. Lucille Vescovi explains the workings of the spectroscope to Wanda Petrulis, Ronald Strahanoski, and George Larsen. Bottom: Peggy Chasteen, Walter Slack, and Marion Smith watch the workings of a retort. Rinaldo Caneva and Katherine Clapper study an algebraic equation on one of Daymond J. Aiken's algebra charts.

Daymond J. Aiken, B.A., M.S., freshman home room, student council, Algebra I and II, physics, plane geometry, trigonometry.

Miss Lorina E. Goerz, B.A., Ph.M., sophomore home room, Junior Red Cross, geometry, algebra, general science, general mathematics.

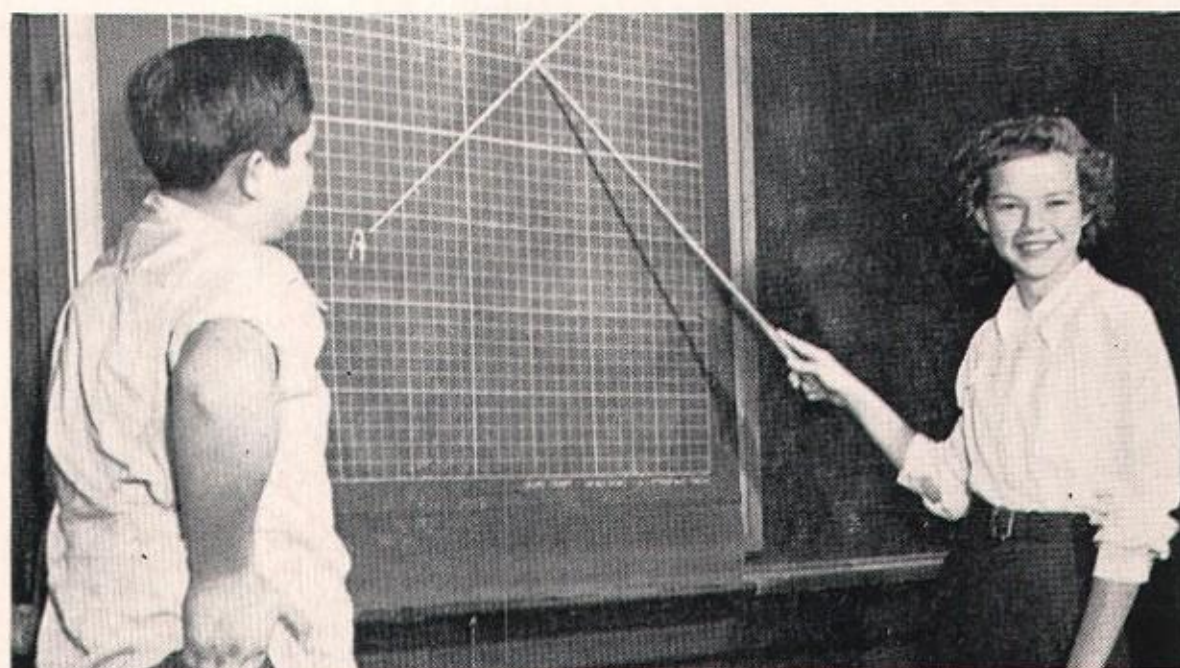

Clinton O. Bismarck, B.A., sophomore home room chairman, detention, general science, chemistry, biology.

Chemistry students gained experience in the laboratory as they performed numerous experiments under Mr. Bismarck's watchful eye. Many odd smells that filled the school halls can be blamed on this class.

Light, sound, and physical laws of nature were just a few of the things taught in the physics class by Mr. Aiken. Although they haven't experimented with the atomic bomb, the class learned many important and interesting facts concerning nuclear physics.

In the mathematics department, freshmen prepared themselves for advanced mathematics by studying general mathematics under Miss Goerz and algebra under the instruction of Miss Goerz and Mr. Aiken. Plane geometry, advanced algebra, and solid geometry were taken by hopeful mathematicians who worked with logarithms, cylinders, calculus, and parabolas. These classes were under the capable direction of Mr. Aiken who has recently had his own algebra book and charts published. The latter are used in many schools, including our own.

Top: Andrew Kozak and Darlene Fracaro enjoy the making of graphs. Bottom: Robert Jensen, John Furst, Jackie McCann, and George Jahneke admire some of the stuffed birds in biology.

Ernest O. Caneva, B.A., band, chorus, orchestra, music.

Mrs. Margaret S. Mitzi, B.A., M.A., sophomore home room, Art I and II, crafts, art appreciation, interior decoration.

Alex L. Johnsonius, B.A., M.A., junior home room, Christmas play, world history, Latin I and II.

Fine Arts

Everyday Beauty Is the Modern Theme . . .

Culture and beauty was the theme of the teachers in the fine arts department as they tried to instill some of the beauty of these subjects into the everyday lives of the students.

Colorful posters, announcing special events, were only one of the many projects undertaken by the art classes. They painted many lovely pictures and, although they were not all outstanding, the students received much enjoyment from doing them. Crafts students worked with leather, metal, and clay, while those interested in correct color schemes and proper furniture for the home, took interior decorating. All of these fascinating undertakings were carried on under the watchful eye of Mrs. Margaret S. Mitzi, head of the art department.

Muriel Foster displays her talents with a baritone. Nancy Ogren proves that she, too, can be a Hoagy Carmichael.

Music, music, music, under the direction of Ernest O. Caneva, added much life to many school affairs. The regular band practice every eighth period kept the members in good playing condition for all of the basketball and football games, not to mention the various other activities at which their music was enjoyed.

Every noon hour found many music lovers gathered in the auditorium ready to sacrifice part of their lunch hour for chorus practice. No wonder we have such a fine music department!

Miss Lucile Emmons proved that foreign languages are very interesting by teaching the students to read and translate Spanish. Highlights were added to this class in the form of Spanish newspapers and films. Some members of the class also received a better understanding of the language and of the lives of the people by corresponding with them in Spanish.

An important place in the language department was held by Mr. Alex L. Johnsonius's Latin classes—or so the Latin students thought as they spent many hours trying to translate Julius Caesar.

Top: Carol Ann Rodeghero and Mathew Bubica pause a moment while they stencil on cloth. Middle: A duck poses for Betty Kasper and Dale Boden. Mary Louise Ganster translates a Latin sentence. Charles Allison clarifies a Spanish city to Evelyn Foth. Bottom: David Blish and Mildred Jungles seem to be oblivious to all disturbances as they draw.

Physical Education

"Health and Happiness" Theme of Gym Instructors . . .

Where do all these muscles come from? They can be blamed on Miss Eva M. Olson, Frank J. Rogers, and Lester L. Lindberg who head our physical education department.

All sorts of recreation in the gym classes taught the students that they could have fun in a wholesome way. Miss Olson taught the girls calisthenics, ballroom and square dancing, volleyball, basketball, swimming, and basket shooting. The boys played football, basketball, baseball, and volleyball under the supervision of Mr. Rogers and Mr. Lindberg. They also swam and performed more advanced calisthenics. All these activities add up to not only muscles but to the healthy, happy students of L.T.H.S.

Top: The fundamentals of the adding machine are learned by Mildred Scogin and Beatrice Smullen. Kathryn Gecan dictates some shorthand to Ardith Mathers. Bottom: Richard Plagenz explains the proper way of voting to Shirley Strong. Nancy Mickel points out a stop on the map to Frank Cerven.

Commerce and Social Science

Preparing for the Future . . .

Typing, shorthand, secretarial practice, book-keeping, business training, commercial geography, and salesmanship were the courses taken by future secretaries, typists, and accounting experts. These business-minded people spent many hours figuring balance sheets, studying exports and imports, and building speed in typing so as to attain the expert level of businessmen. Under the guiding hand of Miss Mildred H. Krusa, Miss Marilyn R. Richards, and Paul E. White, the training and development along these lines made our students stiff competition to others as they entered the business world to make a success of themselves.

Paul E. White, B.S., M.A., senior home room chairman, civics, economics, commercial geography, salesmanship, business training, bookkeeping.

J. Rogers, and Earl C. Snyder, gave many students the feeling to be great like Napoleon or to be another Magellan and travel around the world. It not only gave our students the background for their future reading and understanding by opening a whole realm of facts about ancient and modern civilization, but it also taught them many things about our forefathers and democracy.

Edward Flink and Mr. White proved to be excellent referees in the fiery arguments which were carried on in civics and economics classes. Future lawyers were given many opportunities to prove their point in the debates, while many students found themselves wanting to be senators and representatives as the mock congress went to session.

Antoinette Ragusa and Louis Larson practice filing. Claritta Rutkiewicz and Mary Ann Viskocil run off some drills on the mimeograph.

Top: Earl Eipers and Glenn Reiter sandpaper wood in the woodshop. Harold McGahey, Dean Berryman, and Ely Grubisich operate lathes in metal shop. Middle: Donald Dominicci and Arthur Schumann pose in the tool room. Bottom: Charles Ziesemer watches Earl Morris test light bulbs. Joseph Fitzgerald, James Ficke, Joseph Paul, and Robert Lenzi appear to be interested in their work in mechanical drawing.

Industrial Arts

Handy Men in the Making . . .

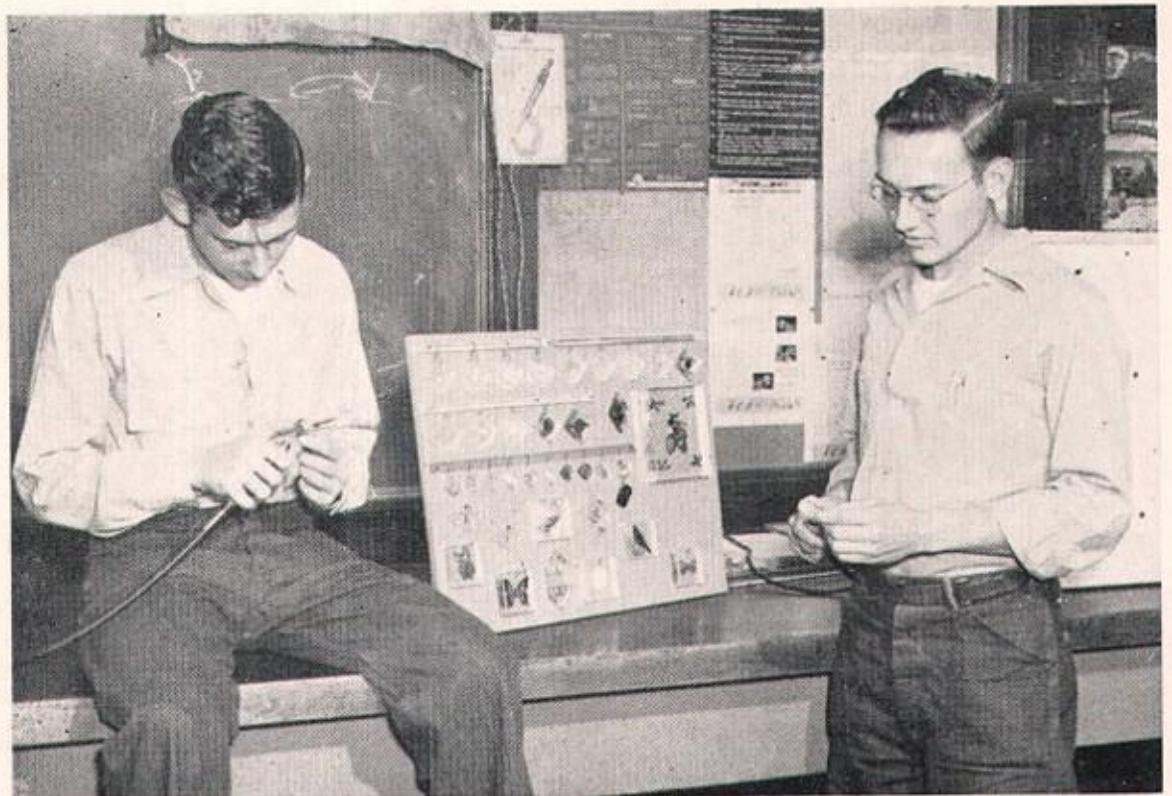

A very fascinating part of our school is the industrial arts department, which turns out many future carpenters, mechanics, electricians, and metal workers. Wood shop, under the supervision of William H. Sterling, not only taught the student to make many handy articles of wood, but at times served as a repair shop for broken school items.

Common construction problems in metal work were thought out by the boys taking metal shop under Raymond Cherry. The uses of many common tools and machines were learned along with the proper way in which to handle materials.

The development of an interesting hobby, along with worth while and profitable information, was gained in Mr. Cherry's plastic class this last year. They learned how to use and care for the different types of plastics which are found in the home. Much of this information will be used when their school days are over.

Students in Orris S. Young's electric shop were given many practical examples along with their class discussion. They wired bell circuits, telegraph and telephone circuits, and practiced simple house wiring. (No need to call an electrician when one of these boys is around.)

Top: Norman and Richard Janovsky put the finishing touches on plastic earrings. Howard Young, Bennie Welter, Earl Morris, and Raymond Bell look for a flaw in an automobile engine.

In mechanical drawing, taught by Mr. Young, much time was spent in drawing and appraising objects.

There will be no speeding tickets given to the boys in auto shop, for they have learned the Illinois Driving rules or so the instructor, David B. Easson, hopes. The fundamentals of the automobile, and the use of tools in connection with the car were two of the most important factors learned in this class.

Raymond Cherry, B.S., M.A., senior home room, metal shop, plastics.

Orris S. Young, B.S., B.A., M.A., sophomore home room, visual education, mechanical drawing, electric shop.

David B. Easson, B.S., junior home room, auto mechanics.

William H. Sterling, B.S., M.S., bookstore, wood shop.

Miss Eleanor A. Urban, B.A., sophomore home room, junior and senior plays, English I and II.

John L. Pence, B.A., junior home room chairman, the Times, English III and IV.

Miss Margaret L. Taylor, B.S., M.A., freshman home room chairman, English I, II, and IV.

Miss Margaret C. Shepherd, freshman home room, librarian.

Miss Jane L. Frasca, B.S., speech correction.

Marie Pleski and Frances Ott view the library bulletin board for the names of the newest books. Selecting books with suitable credits for book reports are Vincent McAsey and Phyllis Restaino. Diagramming sentences appears to be a serious matter with Delores Stapinski.

Inspecting the card file in the library are Gerald Newbold and Lawrence Blaskey. Catharine Nystrom and Jacqueline Cannon show their loyalty to Uncle Dick.

English and Library

Clauses and Phrases Help Mold Our Language . . .

Is it a clause or a phrase? Do you think this is an adjective or an adverb? These questions and many others asked by the students of L.T.H.S. were capably answered by the following English teachers: Miss Margaret L. Taylor, Miss Eleanor A. Urban, Miss Marilyn R. Richards, Miss Eva M. Olson, Miss Lucile Emmons, and John L. Pence. English was a subject pursued not only by freshmen and sophomores but also by upperclassmen. English is stressed more than other subjects because it is so necessary to everyday living.

American and English literature, studied under the guidance of the above teachers, gave pupils a chance to read many of the essays, poems, short stories, and plays of famous authors.

A speech correction class, taught once a week by Miss Jane L. Frasca, gave aid to students with speech difficulties. This was a new and most helpful class added to the curriculum this year.

The library, under the watchful eye of Miss Margaret C. Shepherd, proved a help in many ways. It contains many types of information on almost any subject, plus all of the latest magazines of any scholastic value; thus any reference work may be done in the school library during school hours, eliminating the necessity of going to the public library for study. Aside from all these reference books, our library contains many interesting fiction and non-fiction books, including biographies, autobiographies, and travel books written by famous people. Our library has grown from the 2,275 volumes of twenty-five years ago to the 5,975 volumes of today.

In this twenty-fifth edition we are happy to include Lockport Township High School's Golden Anniversary Class of 1950, and the Class of 1926, editors of the first Lock. The former group consisted of twelve members, two of whom are deceased. Seven of the remaining ten reside in this vicinity. Of the forty-two members of the latter group, thirty-nine are still living.

When the Class of 1900 graduated, the high school was part of what is now the Lockport Grade School. Two of its members, Irene Blanchard (Riley) and Clara Schulze (Prutsman), later

Seniors

Graduates at Last . . .

We've progressed from our freshman year
 And as graduation now draws near,
 We look at all the things we've done—
 Our trials, tribulations, and our fun.
 The freshman dances were quite the thing—
 New records and jeans and everything!
 As sophomores we were green no more
 So we entered in the fun galore.
 Our junior year came much too soon—
 The prom was led by Dale and June.
 We close with a senior year so nifty,
 And bid farewell to the seniors of '50.

As June of 1950 brings our high school career to a close, let us reminisce over the past four years and see some of the wonderful things that have happened to our class.

Nineteen hundred and forty-six welcomed us to a strange school which contained new rules, teachers, and friends. We soon managed to overcome our fears under the leadership of Ivan Lindgren, president; Jeannine Price, vice-president; Barbara Cronholm, secretary; and Kathleen Broderick, treasurer.

With one year of experience to our credit, we came back in 1947 and elected Dale Blaesing, president; Jeannine Price, vice-president; Lawrence Grant, secretary; and Norman Rowley, treasurer.

Our junior year brought us back to the halls as upperclassmen with the feeling of assurance. Under the guidance of our officers, Dale Blaesing, president; June Sons, vice-president; John Ed Meurer, secretary; and John Bachmann, treasurer; we selected our class rings and gave the junior prom, "Moonlight Cruise." Our play, "Peg of My Heart," was labeled a success, as was the operetta "Captain Crossbones."

As seniors, we returned to elect Lawrence Grant, president; Barbara Cronholm, vice-president; Roberta Martin, secretary; and Harry Woodhouse, treasurer. Some of our seniors became so-called "stars" when they were elected to the heads of the various school organizations. They included Barbara Cronholm, Athletic Board of Control and G.A.A.; Elaine Melson, Junior Red Cross; Lawrence Grant, class president; Sharon Boyer, co-editor of the Times; Anne Brankey, Student Council and co-editor of the Lock; Carolyn Winkler, co-editor of the Times and of the Lock; Sarah Jean Rini, chorus; John Bachmann, Athletic Board of Control and Quarterback Club; Peter Titre, band; James Randich, outdoor noon hour; John Ed Meurer, Athletic Board of Control and cafeteria.

We kept the halls lively with laughter, cheered our boys in the games, and participated in all the events. During the year, we edited the Lock and the Times, gained fame in the play, "Stardust," attended the wonderful junior prom, and climaxed our school life with the senior picnic, baccalaureate, and graduation. Among our graduates were Americo Vallera and Norbert Bellou, G.E.D. Graduates.

Now at the crossroads of our lives, we must decide about our future. This school has not only provided us with a wonderful education, but also four years of enjoyment which will often be relived in our memories.

QUILL AND SCROLL

Only those seniors ranking in the upper one-third of their class were eligible for the Quill and Scroll. Sponsors based their nominations for this award on superior work in writing, editing, and business management on the Lock and the Times staffs.

NATIONAL ATHLETIC SCHOLARSHIP SOCIETY

Nine boys who earned a major athletic letter, and who maintained a scholastic average equal to or above the average of the school in general, were eligible for membership in the National Athletic Scholarship Society. The coaches nominated these boys for citizenship as well as sportsmanship.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Twenty-five years ago, due to the efforts of Superintendent James M. Smith, the National Honor Society was introduced at Lockport High. Through the past quarter century, membership in this society has been awarded to fifteen per cent of the senior class, all of whom must rank in the upper one-third of their class.

The award was as important to the nineteen students who received it this year as to the six who received the honor twenty-five years ago.

JUNIORS

Attaining the Heights -- Juniors at Last! . . .

Feeling important, as all upperclassmen do, the junior class helped to make this anniversary year one to remember.

Under the guiding hands of the officers, John Pretto, president; LeRoy McCarthy, vice-president; Alex Artisuk, secretary; and Charles Anderson, treasurer; the juniors advanced day by day toward their goal of congenial associations with teachers and students. Steps along this way which were greatly enjoyed by the student body were: the class play, "Meet Me in St. Louis," directed by Miss Eleanor A. Urban, and the junior-senior prom, "A Night at the Ballet," an evening which will be long remembered. After much deliberation, the class rings were also selected, and the choice proved to be satisfactory to the entire junior class.

It was a great thrill to the new upperclassmen to share the fun and excitement of the junior-senior picnic at St. Charles. All in all, the memory of this year will be cherished in the minds of the Class of 1951.

A Good Start on the Long Road Ahead . . .

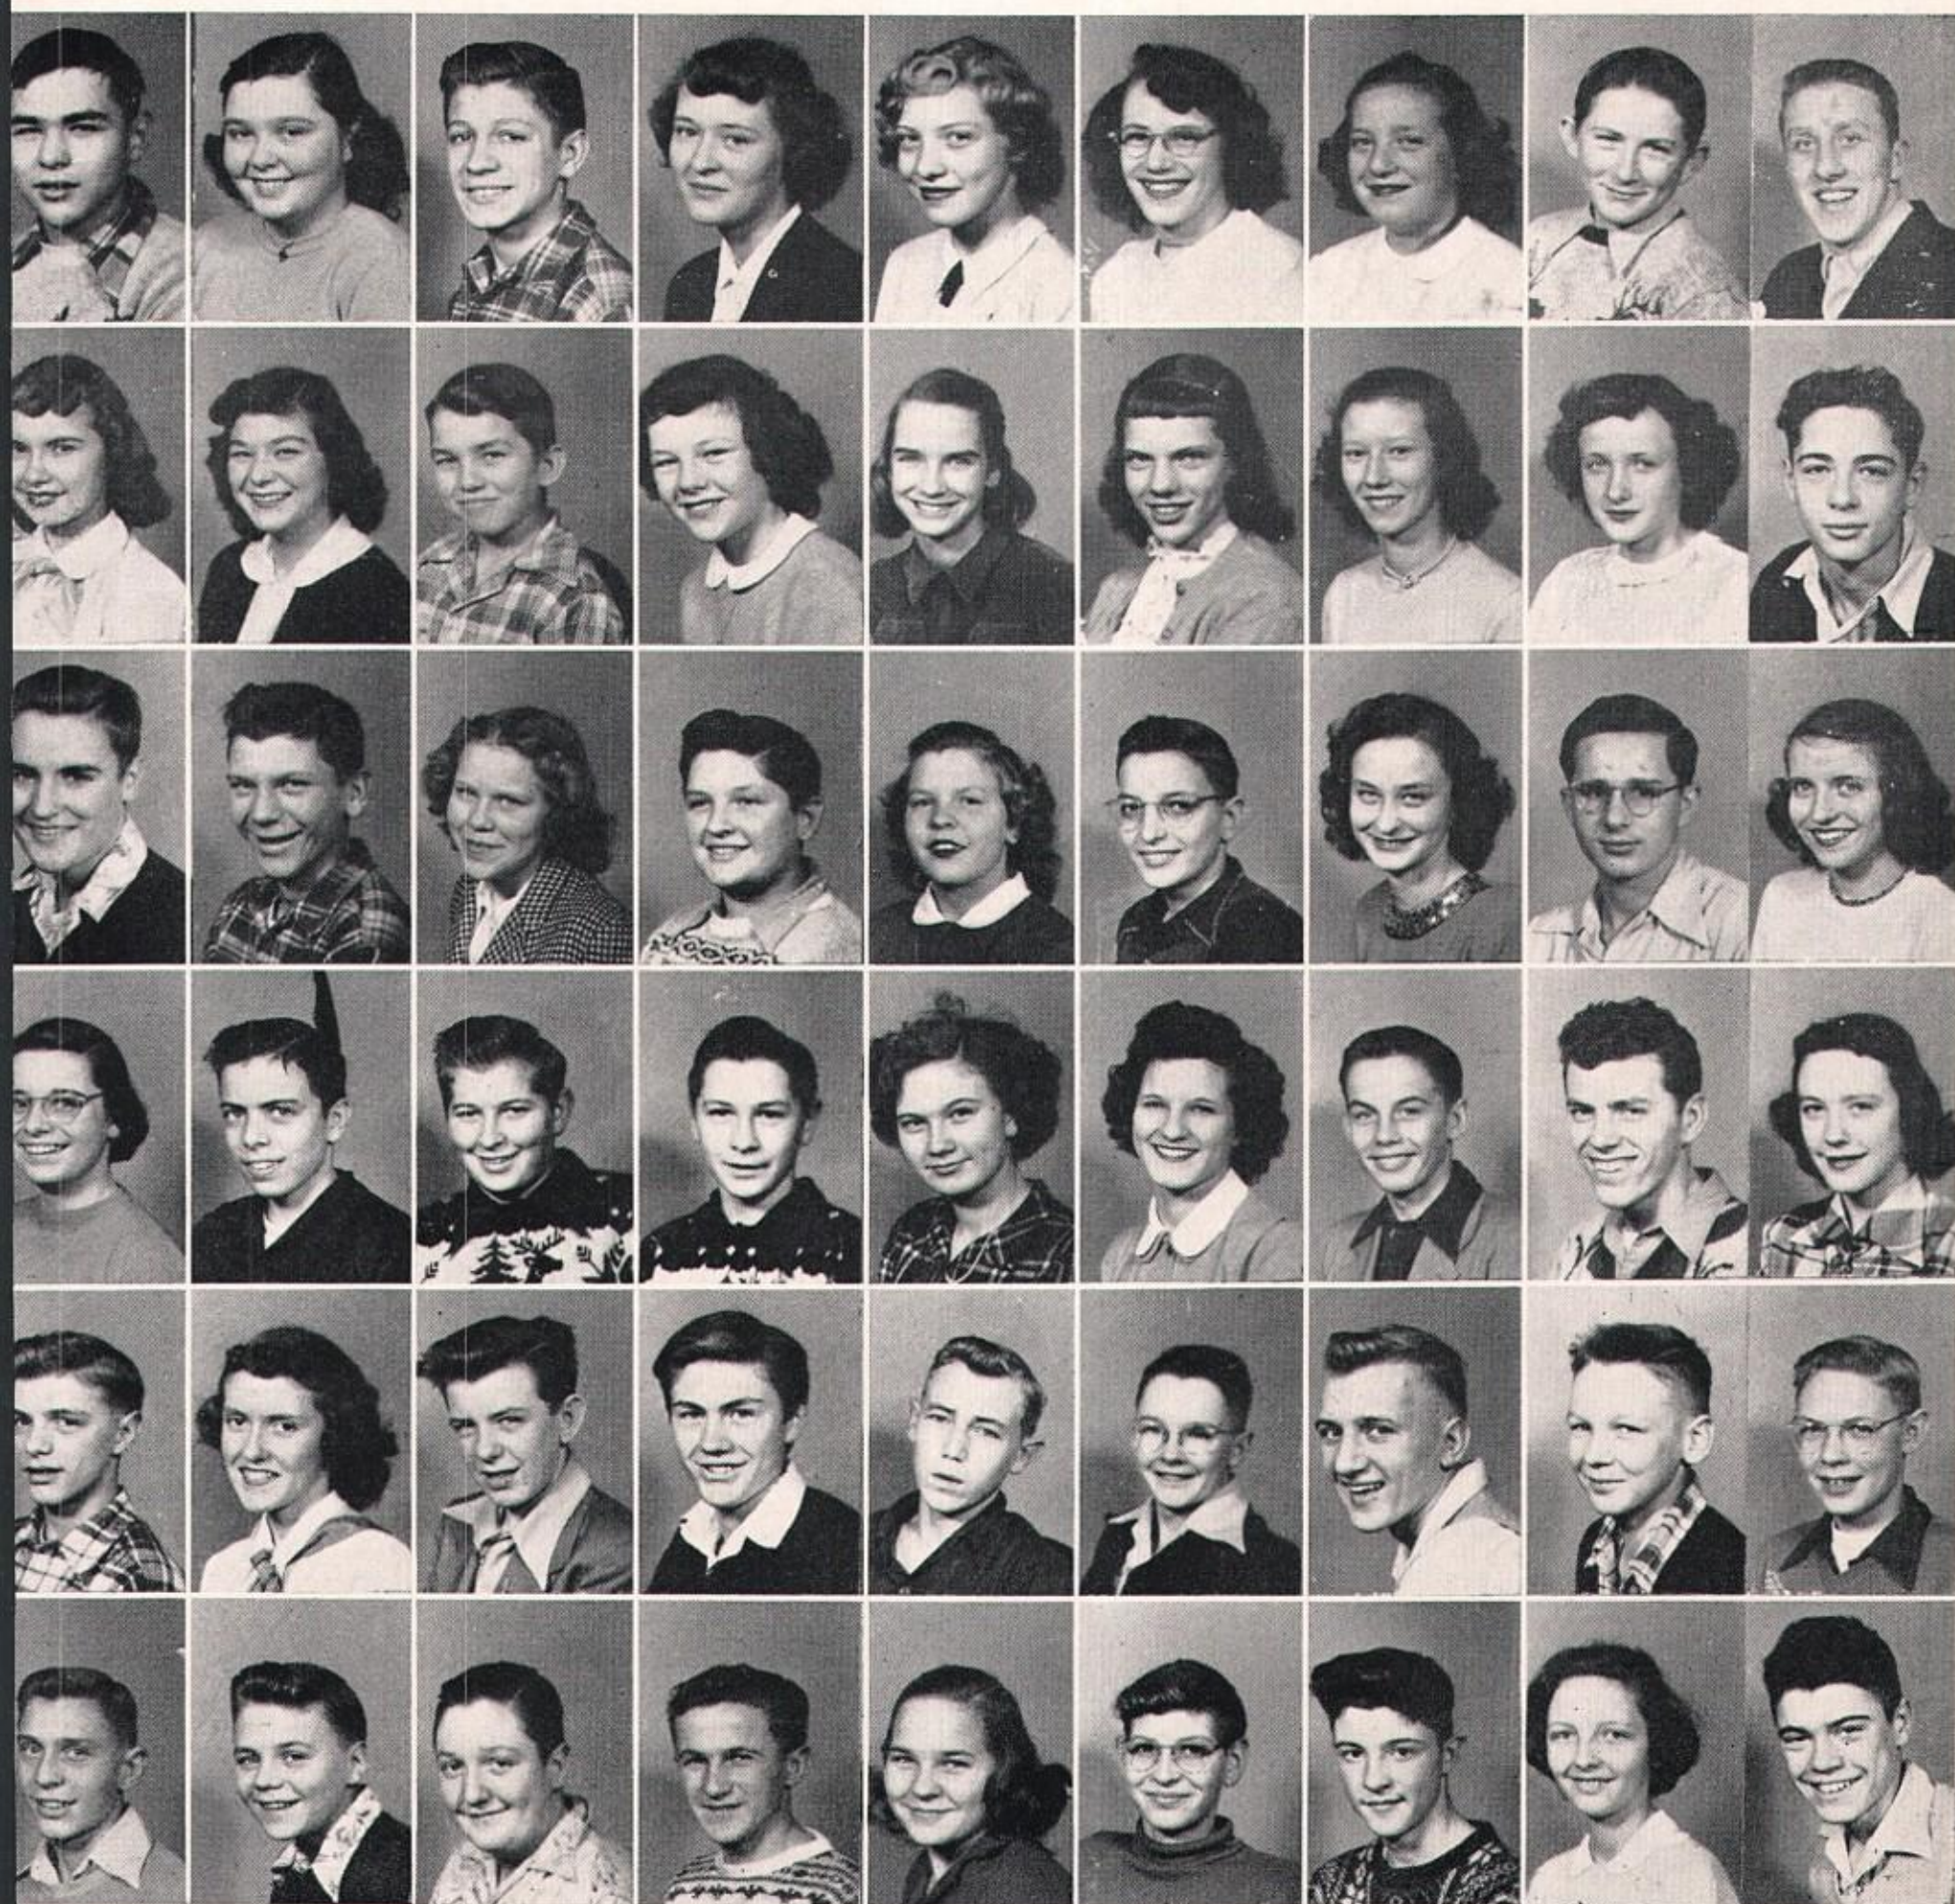

In September of 1949, some 230 freshmen, the largest class to enter the halls of L.T.H.S., showed good choice in electing as class officers, William Allison, president; Edward Woods, vice-president; Ardis Fracaro, secretary; and Angela DeSandre, treasurer. They soon proved that they weren't as green as the green identification slips sold to them at the beginning of the year.

Many girls joined the G.A.A. and the boys went out for the fresh-soph teams.

Richard Eichhorn would prove stiff competition even to Daniel Webster, the great orator. Earl C. Snyder and Orris S. Young are two of the faculty members who eat lunch in our cafeteria regularly.

ACTIVITIES

Extra-curricular activities played an important part in school life twenty-five years ago, much the same as they have this year. Students, then, were provided with wholesome activities although they were not as numerous as they are now. Great progress has been made in our activity program during the last quarter century.

This year our organizations and social events, combined with our academic work, made after-school hours a great deal of fun and heightened our school spirit. These activities stimulated interest and brought the students and teachers together in a more social atmosphere. They broadened our school life and laid the foundation for living together.

Helpful Hints for the High School Students

by JAMES M. SMITH

The purpose of this article is to point the way to proper habits of conduct. Good habits once established usually guarantee honorable and effective citizenship. Good manners are the golden keys which open the doors to the hearts of men and women. They are the most effective weapons in the battle of life. The possession of them enriches him who hath and maketh poor indeed him who hath not.)

I. IN THE CLASSROOM

1. When you wish to ask a question, raise your hand for the teacher to recognize you.
2. Address your teacher: "Miss Jones, would you kindly?" "Yes, Miss Jones," etc.
3. Recite in a clear distinct voice so that your classmates and teacher can hear without having to ask you to repeat.

4. Sit as nearly erect as possible. Sitting in a curved position is hard on your spine.

5. Desks are placed in the room and the tops kept smooth for your convenience. Cutting or writing on them is destructive and unfair to the students who use them.

6. Enter and leave classroom in an orderly fashion. It avoids confusion and adds dignity to your school.

II. IN THE CORRIDOR

1. Keep to the right. It will help you and the other fellow.

2. Walk, do not run. Enough time is permitted for classes to change at a walking pace.

3. Keep moving. The corridor is not large enough to permit loitering and visiting.

4. Keep lockers clean. They reflect your own cleanliness. Everything should be inside.

5. Keep lockers locked.

6. Keep your temper if jostled. It is usually accidental and a "pardon me" on both sides dismisses the case immediately.

III. IN THE ASSEMBLY

1. Whispering disturbs others.

2. Courtesy demands that you give a speaker your best attention.

3. Applause at the right time is helpful but avoid excessive applause, stamping of feet, whistling, etc.

4. Moving pictures with a darkened room is not a signal for unnecessary noise.

BRONZE MEDALLION OF LINCOLN GIVEN TO WINNER OF CONTEST

Only Seniors Allowed to Compete in Lincoln Essay Contest

A beautiful bronze medallion of Abraham Lincoln by Volk, is being offered by the Illinois Watch Company, at Springfield, Illinois, to every school that takes part in the annual essay contest.

The object of this contest is to encourage the study of Lincoln and his character.

Philo-Alethians Present Program on Dec. 23, 1925

Members of the Philo-Alethian Literary Society presented their first program in the auditorium of the high school on Wednesday, December 23, 1925.

Glenn Miller, president of the Society, gave a short talk in which he thanked the members for their one hundred per cent co-operation. He also mentioned the fact that not one of those who were asked refused to take part in the program.

Reverend Mr. [Name] gave the invocation. The program consisted of a play, "The Call of the Wild," by Jack London, which was acted by the Philo-Alethians. The play was a very interesting one, and the actors did it very well. The last dance was given at 11:30 o'clock.

DOCTOR G. BRONSON GIVES LECTURE ON HAWAIIAN ISLANDS

Doctor George A. Bronson, Jr., traveler and lecturer, of the Hawaiian Islands, gave a thirty-five minute talk to the students of L. T. H. S. in the auditorium on Wednesday, January 13.

Doctor Bronson's home is in Honolulu. He told how the Hawaiian band, composed of eighty-four pieces, meets each boat as it enters the harbor. Thus everyone who visits the Islands is assured of hospitality.

The temperature of Honolulu averages 85 degrees, varying 15 degrees one way or the other. There is sunshine every day in the year; it also rains every day. But the rain is not over all Honolulu at the same time. There are two universities in the world where the scenery is not excelled by any other part of the world; the flowers bloom continually; and the houses are built on the style of the Hawaiian bungalows.

Doctor Bronson told of his friendship with Jack London, the author of "The Call of the Wild." While the author was guest of Doctor Bronson, Sr. Jack London wrote "God's Country and the World," and "The Paradise of the Pacific."

Doctor Bronson explained how the lepers are hunted, and how horses are used for bait.

While visiting the leper colony in the Hawaiian Islands, he said that his father, Doctor Bronson, Sr., was indirectly responsible for the cure of leprosy. He related the experience of one woman, eighty years of age, who had suffered for forty years with the disease. When the cure was discovered, the woman no longer had to remain in the colony, but was put aboard ship for California. Upon her arrival there she saw a taxi-cab; the shock was so great that she died soon afterwards in a hospital.

At the close of his talk, Doctor Bronson showed slides of many different views of the Islands and their inhabitants. They were all pictures which he himself had taken, and included views of the following: the hotel, trees, entrance to his room, shark shooting, Doctor Bronson and his father, a shark which weighed nine tons, a fish, a snake twenty-eight foot long, the sugar mill, the oldest man on the island, flower girls, the beach, a sunset, a view of the moonlight on the Pacific, and a bird's-eye view of the leper colony.

Much Excitement Reigns Among Senior Ranks

Have some of the under classmen been wondering at all the excitement in the Senior's ranks? If they have they should read and wonder no more.

The little brown envelopes the Seniors treasure so carefully contain—, no nothing deadly, just pictures of themselves.

In that envelope are the results of the visit paid by each Senior to the photographer's.

Each Senior has four proofs and this fact is causing many grey hairs as only one can go in the annual and everyone has different opinions.

"Which one do you like best?" is the question asked everyone who views these pictures. Sometimes the answer meets with approval and again it causes a wail of, "Well I can't decide, two like this one best and two like that one best."

Well the only suggestion that has been offered is that the undecided Senior should put them all in front of himself and say, "eenie meenie minie mo."

Time Marches On . . .

The Class of 1925-1926 was the first to issue our school paper, the Times. It was edited by Elizabeth McCabe, with Miss Elizabeth Stewart as sponsor.

Assisting the editor-in-chief were thirty students chosen from the senior English classes, and three reporters representing the freshman, sophomore, and

MANY STUDENTS DROP OUT OF SCHOOL

Did you ever hear or ask this question? "I wonder what ever happened to that boy (or girl) who sat next to me in my English class?" Yes, this question with a few variations is applicable to many of the students of L.T.H.S. as this first semester draws to a close.

Realizing the truth of this fact, the writer investigated statistics to find that nineteen students have withdrawn from our wonderful institution, principally for three reasons. Two of them, the necessity to help support the family and to transfer to other schools, are justifiable. The third reason, which represents those people who just gave up the fight is typical of "withdrawals."

Those who have dropped out this semester are W. W. sky, Mary Vac, C. Lucas, D. Eipers, W. W. Mendenhall, D. G. Rowinski, J. C. ler, E. Miller, M. Shlensky.

However, six other left the school upon of their four year v Burton Alden, Jim Becker, Catherine Rowley, and Fred St

PLACES AT M AT WIL

Lockport Township was represented at W... the first of a series of Ora... Contests sponsored by the American Legion.

This was the first time a member of Lockport Township High School participated in an event such as this, but the outcome was very successful. Richard Eichhorn, sponsored by the John Olson Post, held the audience at attention with his speech, "The People's Constitution and Ours to Defend". He tied for second place with only five percentage points behind the winner.

Ray Bolden, representative from J.T.H.S., who scored 94 points out of a possible 100, was the winner.

While semester exams at L.T.H.S. were being given on the mornings of January 17-20, many students enjoyed free time during this period, as they were exempted from all of their subject with at least a "B" average.

Headline this group were the

FLYER TO SPEAK BEFORE ASSEMBLY 2ND PERIOD TODAY

Today Lockport students will enjoy an assembly during the second period. The guest speaker will be Lt. James C. Whittaker of Rickenbacker's Raft. The title of his talk will be "We Thought We Heard the Angels Sing."

BAND PROGRESSES FROM 1934-1950

The L.T.H.S. band was organized and first competed in the district contest held in Joliet in 1934. Entrance was obtained with 27 members.

WRITER HONORS STAFF ALUMNI; DO YOU KNOW THEM?

If one could look into a crystal ball, he would be able to see into the future and disclose the coming events. Since he is unable to do this, he can only look into the past and see what time has told about the news editors of the "Times" for the past ten years. Some of the people the writer could not find; so these she can only mention their names and leave to the reader's memory to fill in. Do you recognize them?

Of the number which exists in 1939, eight, I believe, remain.

CANEVA, SCHUMANN GET OPERETTA LEADS

By popular vote of the chorus Art Schumann and Maureen Caneva won the lead roles in the operetta, Waltz Time, which will be sung by the L.T.H.S. chorus. They will assume the roles of Kirby Stevens, a young musician, and Sue Oliver, a friend who believes in his ambitions.

This modern musical comedy in two acts by Charles George, will be presented on March 16 and 17 in the high school auditorium. Tickets will be sold by members of the cast.

Other female leads are A. Brankey, as Lilac, the colored maid; C. Winkler, as M. Lucy Stevens, mother of Kirby; Johnson, Lizzy; N. Kennedy, Evelyn; and young old-

YEARBOOK MEMORIES

You'll be pinin' for the school days that you, used to know,
Every day rushing by, not a one goes slow.
That bright new 'A' a shinin', staring up at you,
You wouldn't have changed places with a Buick '52.
Tryin' to hum the old tunes that you used to know.
You'll find you won't remember how they used to go.
Dancin' on the gym floor, you and Sally Joy,
You wouldn't have switched partners with any living boy.
You'll be thinkin' of the old days, trying to remember
What your teachers' names were when you started that first year.

LARGE NUMBER RATE PLACES ON PERIOD, SEMESTER ROLLS

Wednesday, January 23, was report card day for Lockport High students. Grades on the card covered both the third period and semester grades.

B. Smullen, a soph., again led the period roll with 5 B's or more; She is accompanied by R. Martin, a senior, with 5 B's or more, on the semester roll.

Period Roll:

A or A— in four: (senior) B. Alden; (juniors) L. Hosbach and J. Pretto; (sophs.) A. Carlson, M. Kuebler, P. May, and J. Skeldon; (frosh.) M. Hill.

junior groups. Among the many articles in the four-page, monthly newspaper were columns for alumni notes, general news, and the ever-popular joke column entitled "Minute Cracks."

Although twenty-five years have passed, the paper is of the same size, and it has changed very little in content. This year's staff, under the direction of Sponsor John L. Pence, included Co-editors Carolyn Winkler and Sharon Boyer, plus seventeen other seniors who were chosen because of their journalistic abilities. Five additional seniors assisted with the circulation of the seven issues, which were financed mainly by newspaper sales and local advertisements.

Democracy

Asserts Itself . . .

Democracy—just what is it? This was a question that was answered at Lockport Township High School by the Student Council when it helped to formulate means by which student problems could be remedied and solved. The council was composed of school leaders and home room representatives, with Daymond J. Aiken as its very capable sponsor.

One of the main activities of the year was acting as host to the South Suburban Congress. Also, a new project undertaken by the council this year was the sponsoring of a used book stand.

Another of the projects sponsored by the council was the annual "Open House." Members of the organization were stationed at various posts in the building to supply any information necessary concerning the evening's program. Included in the program was a short band concert, a boys' basketball practice, a typing demonstration, and an aquatic revue. Then, as always, we welcomed our parents to see our school.

STUDENT COUNCIL—Front Row: B. Carroll, S. Rini, Secretary B. Cronholm, Vice-president J. Bachmann, President A. Brankey, Treasurer L. Grant, P. Titre, R. Henke. Second Row: E. Melson, B. Harvey, I. For the first time, the council sponsored the presentation of the assemblies. Our first entertainer was a violinist, Alfredo Cavalieri, who gave an incite to his music. George Gilbert Groman, a linguist, presented many a laugh with his imitations of different persons and personalities. The skills of shorthand and typing were ably demonstrated by a young veteran, Norman Gil, of Gregg College. Inspiration and wonder were displayed as Lieutenant James Whittaker told of his experiences of being shipwrecked with Captain Eddie Rickenbacker. Cartooning became a topic of discussion after Paul Burke, world famous cartoonist, displayed his versatility with the chalk. A talented "Charm Quartet" presented a variety of musical selections, and our final assembly of the year was a student program.

John D. Lynch, Board of Education secretary, speaks at the April, 1929 ground-breaking ceremony while a senior in high school.

Acts of Joy for Many a Girl and Boy . . .

The Junior Red Cross has long been known for the wonderful deeds it performs in helping the suffering children in America and in other lands.

This year the Junior Red Cross accomplished a main part of its job, that of helping children in other countries, by sending to them small gift boxes which contained such articles as toothpaste, pencils, tablets, wash cloths, and soap. The second half of the job, helping children in our own country, was performed by selling programs at home games so that all of the players could easily be identified. The money made by the programs and the enrollment campaign, which resulted in 100%, helped to build up the treasury.

Miss Lorina E. Goerz, sponsor, was assisted in the deeds of the Junior Red Cross by Elaine Melson, president; John Pretto, vice-president; Betty Carroll, secretary; Nancee Kennedy, treasurer; and the home room representatives.

SENIOR PLAY

"Living" the Part . . .

"Everyone must 'live' his role off stage as well as on" was heard many times in the play "Stardust," a hilarious comedy, presented May 4 and 5 by the senior class, under the direction of Miss Eleanor A. Urban.

The play took place in the Academy of Dramatic and Allied Arts, with Mr. Bach, an eccentric director, teaching his students all the wrong methods of acting. While the students were engaged in "living" their art, Prudence Mason, a visiting actress, was dumbfounded at the crazy mix up. Terrified, she called Claire Carter, her best friend, for help. Between the crazy ideas of Mr. Bach, the witty remarks of Claire, and the oddness of the over-arty students, Prudence's problem was finally solved.

The characters were as follows: "Mr. Bach," David Briick; "Prudence Mason," Sharon Boyer; "Claire Carter," Anne Brankey; "Madame DeFore," dean, Barbara Cronholm; "Jerry Flanagan," Robert Shoop; "Arthur Scott, Jr.," Prudence's fiance, Richard Woodman; "Janet Ross," Elaine Melson; "Phil Ford," designer, Warren Lohmar; "Tad Voohris," playwright, Burdette Fair; "Marion Phipps," Carolyn Winkler; "Cynthia Keene," Donna Krickovich; "Stella Brahms," Mary Boehme; "Mavis Moriarity," Charlotte Goodman; "John Redman," Joseph Drick; "Raimund Brown," Ivan Lindgren; "Miss Robinson," Patricia Flynn; "Miss Freeman," Jill Calloway; "Miss Jones," Rosemary Gibes.

PRACTICE SCENES—Top: Mr. Bach (D. Briick) accuses Janet Ross (E. Melson) and Phil Ford (W. Lohmar) of misconduct while the dean (B. Cronholm) observes with disapproval. Middle: Arthur Scott, Jr. (R. Woodman) and Prudence Mason (S. Boyer) are engrossed with each other, unaware of the scheme being plotted by Jerry Flanagan (R. Shoop). Assuming the poses of various inanimate objects are Mavis Moriarity (C. Goodman), Cynthia Keene (D. Krickovich), Marion Phipps (C. Winkler), Stella Brahms (M. Boehme), and Tad Voohris (B. Fair), while Claire Carter (A. Brankey) inspects with amazement. Bottom: Fencing and ballet dancing are being practiced by Raimund Brown (I. Lindgren), John Redman (J. Drick), Miss Robinson (P. Flynn), Miss Jones (R. Gibes), and Miss Freeman (J. Calloway).

Top: The two Lucilles (Lucille Vescovi and Maureen Caneva) have Lon (John Pretto) completely puzzled. Bottom: Trying to console Katie (Beverly Hill) are Tootie (Caryl Sullivan), Agnes (Joyce Ludwig), Rose (Ardith Mathers), and Esther (Frances Ott).

JUNIOR PLAY

"Meet Me in St. Louis"

Is Well Received . . .

Under the direction of Miss Eleanor A. Urban, the junior class presented its play, "Meet Me in St. Louis," on the nights of November 17 and 18, to a wonderfully receptive audience. The comedy was a dramatization from Sally Benson's popular book of the same title.

The plot revolved around four attractive sisters who decided to run the family, especially the romances of their only brother, Lon. The sisters, disliking the snobbish Eastern girl that Lon was wild about, set to steal the show from her. They were so concerned about their brother's predicament that they had no time to listen to their harassed father who had an important announcement to make to the family. Later, the tables turned on the sisters who then wished they were thousands of miles away from St. Louis. Their father chose that time to tell them that he had been offered a better job in New York, and that the family was to move away before the World's Fair started. However, the girls united, and, through their efforts, the family continued to live in good old St. Louis. Lon's romance was then straightened out.

Members of the cast were as follows:

Mr. Smith, a St. Louis business man and the head of a troublesome family, Dale Boden.

Mrs. Smith, his wife, Mildred Jungles.

Rose, the eldest, Ardith Mathers and Marilyn Johnson.

Esther, Frances Ott and Mary Dempsey.

Agnes, Joyce Ludwig and Betty Carroll.

Tootie, Caryl Sullivan.

Lon, the son, John Pretto.

Grandpa Prophater, Mrs. Smith's father, Ralph Benck.

Katie, the cook, Beverly Hill and Rita Fracaro.

Mrs. Waughop, an irate neighbor, Beverly Johnston, and June Pinneo.

Ida Boothby, sweet on Lon, Lorena Hosbach.

Lucille Pentard, the menace from the East, Maureen Caneva and Lucille Vescovi.

John Shephard, sweet on Rose, Richard Woodman.

Fred Gregory, sweet on Esther, Lee Schuler.

Mr. Dodge, Mr. Smith's boss, Richard Ramos.

Mr. Duffy, who is up to no good, Jack Coon.

Conductor, William Richards.

Gazing with astonishment at the stuffed dummy are the conductor (William Richards), Mr. Dodge (Richard Ramos), Mr. Duffy (Jack Coon), Katie (Rita Fracaro), and Mrs. Waughop (Beverly Johnston).

While Esther (Frances Ott), Agnes (Joyce Ludwig), Mrs. Smith (Mildred Jungles), and Rose (Ardith Mathers) watch with horror, Mrs. Waughop (June Pinneo) points the finger of suspicion at Tootie (Caryl Sullivan).

A family portrait of the Smith's includes—standing—Fred Gregory (Lee Schuler), Esther (Mary Dempsey), Grandpa (Ralph Benck), Rose (Marilyn Johnson), John Shephard (Richard Woodman), Mrs. Smith (Mildred Jungles), Ida Boothby (Lorena Hosbach), Lon (John Pretto);—seated—Mr. Smith (Dale Boden), Tootie (Caryl Sullivan), and Agnes (Betty Carroll).

Under the direction of Ernest O. Caneva, the L.T.H.S. Band has added another record year to the rapidly growing list of achievements. In addition to playing for the football and basketball games, and the class plays, the band has shown its civic pride in joining wholeheartedly in community parades and projects.

The summer band won top honors in the competition among Class B bands at the Riverview Tournament of Music. Also high on the list of achievements for this year were the seventeenth annual concert and the third annual banquet, both held in December. In April the band took first place in Class B in the district contest held at DeKalb.

This year's officers included President Peter Titre, Vice-president Beverly Harvey, Secretary Frank Marco, Treasurer Marnita Hill, and Librarians Doris Longhini and Donna Krickovich.

The year began well when over one hundred students enrolled for the year's activities. Officers for the year were President Sarah Jean Rini, Vice-president Marilyn Johnson, Secretary Roberta Martin, Treasurer Robert Carver, Sophomore Representative Grace Boehme, and Freshman Representative Antoinette Ragusa.

Under the direction of Ernest O. Caneva, the "choirleers" participated in the seventeenth annual concert, the Christmas program, and the baccalaureate services.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM

Cruising Down the River . . .

Let's go "Cruising Down the River" and relive that wonderful prom, "Moonlight Cruise."

The ship, "Happiness," decorated with fish nets and pennants, sailed along until it came to Dreamland, where it docked and the passengers enjoyed entertainment provided by members of the junior class, with Robert Shoop as deck officer. Margaret Blechschmidt and Roy Steuhm were crowned queen and king, respectively. Along the decks, the promenade was led by Captain Dale Blaesing and Executive Officer June Sons.

Top: Enjoying intermission are Walter Clapper, Marjorie Kesser, Charles Gannaway, Shirley Strong, Warren Lohmar, and Grace Wilhelmi. Taking part in the promenade are Betty Carroll, King Roy Steuhm, Queen Margaret Blechschmidt, Robert Friddle, Barbara Zuelke, Bruce Baxter, Geraldine Allen, Harold Tuidar, Anne Brankey, Burdette Fair, and Joyce Ludwig. Bottom: Between dances are Robert Friddle, Barbara Zuelke, Geraldine Allen, and Bruce Baxter. All-a-smile are David Briick, Agnes Shutty, Mary Dempsey, and Daniel Stanfill. Participating in the promenade are Ronald Thoresen and Nancy Spangler.

Punch, direct from Davy Jones' locker, was served in the afterdeck, while Gene Victor and his crew entertained the passengers with nautical tunes.

As the ship came into port, everyone agreed it was a gala cruise and that it will always hold a place in our sea-faring memories.

We wish to thank the junior class sponsors, Paul E. White, Miss Mildred H. Krusa, Raymond Cherry, Mrs. Marion K. Morrison, and Lester L. Lindberg for their help and guidance in making "Moonlight Cruise" a success.

Top: Maureen Caneva and Lorena Hosbach do the "Charleston" in a floor show. Olga Kesich and Arthur Schumann were two of the steadies often seen at the dances. Nancy Spangler, Ernest Swenson, Claritta Rutkiewicz, and Elmo Petro seem to be having a good time. Middle: Barbara Warren does a sentimental number, while Maureen Caneva accompanies. June Sons and Dale Blaesing take time out for a "coke." Bottom: Ardith Mathers and Arthur Shepherd carry on a conversation while enjoying each other's company. Patricia Randich, Robert Shoop, Beverly Harvey, Theodore Meurer, Jeanne Sweeney, and John Bachmann also find Lock dances quite interesting.

LOCK DANCES

All We Want Is Music, Music, Music! . . .

All we wanted was fun and music, music, music. This was certainly the case at our Lock dances which were held nearly every Friday night. Perhaps the mode of dancing had changed from what it was twenty-five years ago, but the element of whole-hearted fun was ever present. We no longer saw the "Charleston" or the "Big Apple," but the "Double Shuffle" and many new steps were often exhibited.

Due to the need of space and a more convenient location in the building, the dances were held in the gymnasium this year.

We would like to express our appreciation to Miss Mildred H. Krusa for sponsoring the dances, and to Joseph Kucera and Dominic Shulla for their cooperation in chaperoning.

NOON HOUR

Dinner Bell Rings . . .

The 12:15 dinner bell brought over one hundred and sixty hungry students and faculty members "flocking" to the cafeteria to eat delicious meals prepared by Mrs. Euphemia Woock and Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, and sponsored by Mrs. Marion K. Morrison. Between preparing the trays attractively and serving the faculty, Marjorie Verklan, Dorothy Kure, Marilyn Priess, Cordelia Flores, Lucy Vallera, Mary De Angelis, Dorothy Pleski, Katherine Greenberg, Ardis Fracaro, Marilyn Kranz, and Phyllis Restaino, were always kept busy. Helping John Ed Meurer, cafeteria chairman, to keep order and direct traffic, were William Meurer, Alex Artisuk, Joseph Fitzgerald, and Theodore Meurer.

Under the direction of James Randich, chairman, the outdoor committee kept the school grounds clean and orderly.

With all of this efficiency during the noon hour, everyone was kept happy and all awaited the next meal.

soph football players with Coach Frank J. Rogers acting as sponsor. Guest speaker at the banquet was Charles Trippi of the Chicago Cardinals Professional Football Team.

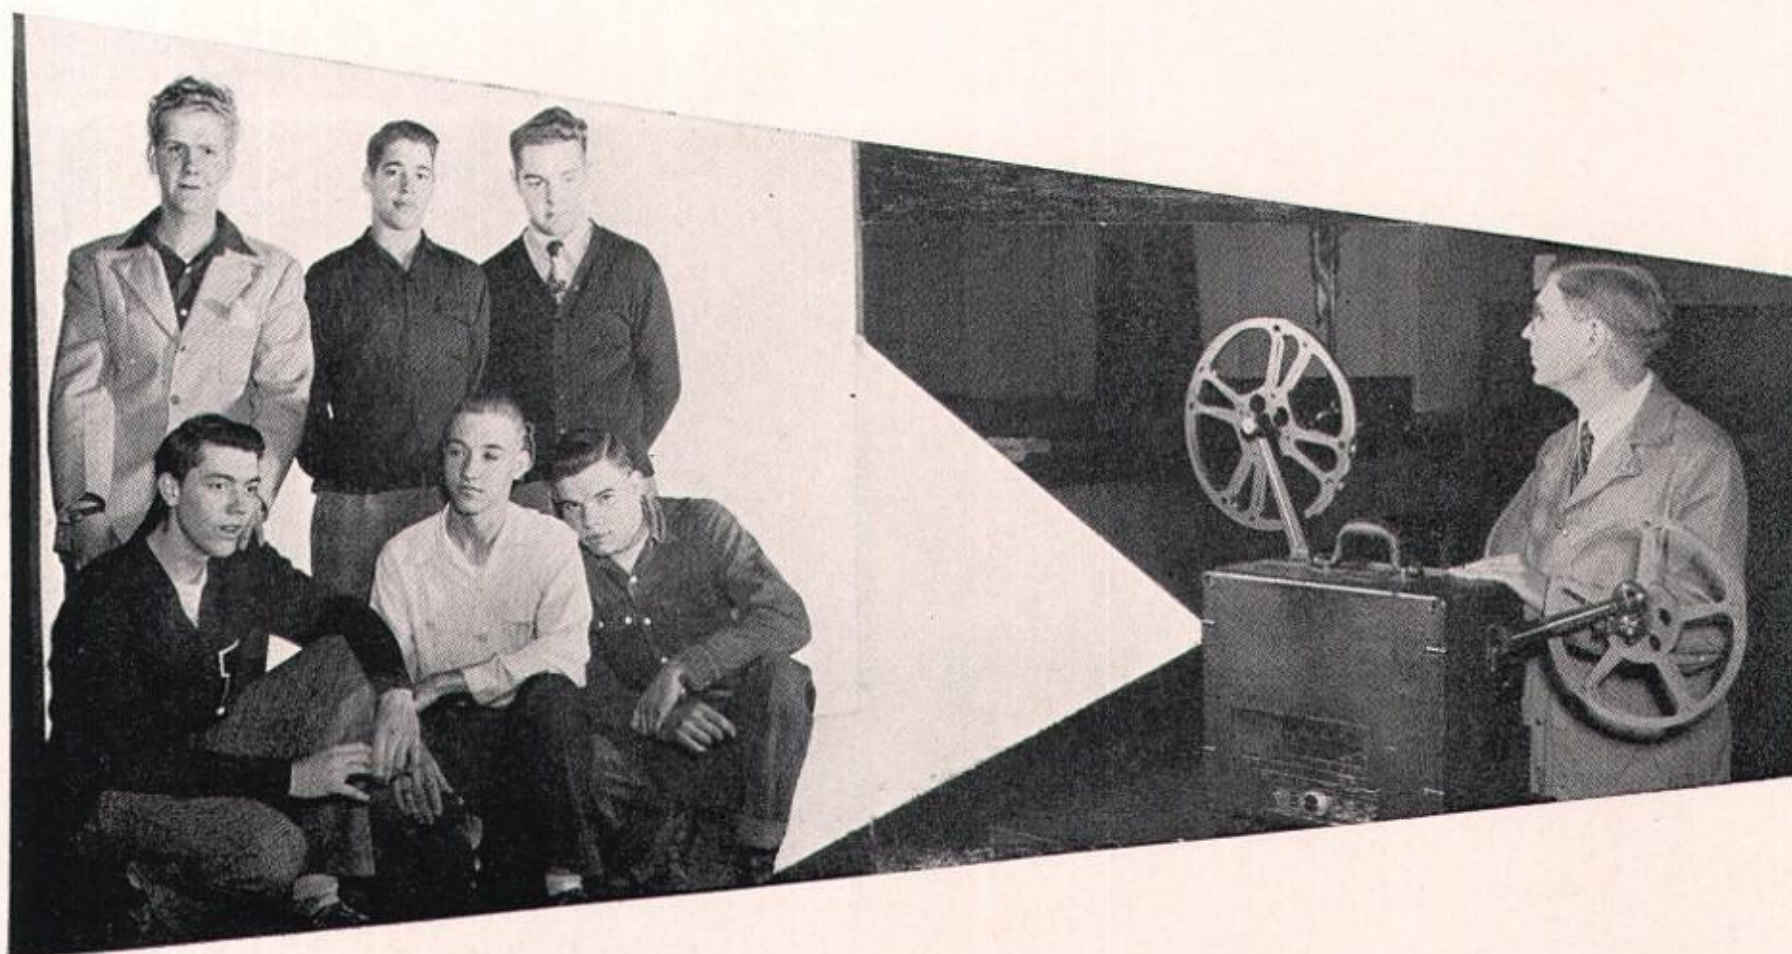

The Quarterback Club and the Wingback Club have helped to bring about a feeling of comradeship among the players. They have also promoted good will between fathers and sons by sponsoring a function such as the football banquet.

VISUAL EDUCATION

Seeing Is Believing . . .

The methods of teaching have greatly changed from what they were twenty-five years ago to what they are today. Had movies been shown in the classroom then, it would certainly have been thought that education was at an end. Now, however, it has been proven that visual aid cannot be overstressed. It is a great step forward in education.

The big job of training movie projector operators was supervised by Orris S. Young. Those who learned to use the machines were students from Mr. Young's electric shop.

CHEERLEADERS of 1925-1926: Edgar Ritchie, Madge Prutsman (Wagner).

CHEERLEADERS

Pepsters Spell "Vitality Plus" . . .

With a flip, split, and a tumble, the cheerleaders led this year's yells. "Vim, vigor, and vitality" seemed to be their motto, for when they gave a signal for a cheer, the response was one of enthusiasm. After several spirited try-outs, the old cheerleaders consisting of Jacqueline Bechler, Patsy Carlock, Betty Carroll, Joyce Ludwig, Elaine Melson, and Joann Williamson, plus two new candidates, Mary Dempsey and Lois Grant, were elected.

Juanita Boehme and Kathleen Roberts made cute mascots for this year's cheering squad.

LOCKONIANS

Shoulder to Shoulder . . .

The girls of L.T.H.S. banded together to form a club called Lockonians. Officers were elected respectively: Olga Kesich, president; Betty Carroll, vice-president; Beverly Harvey, secretary; and Patricia McCanna, treasurer. Miss Marilyn R. Richards and Miss Mildred H. Krusa guided the girls as the sponsors of this organization.

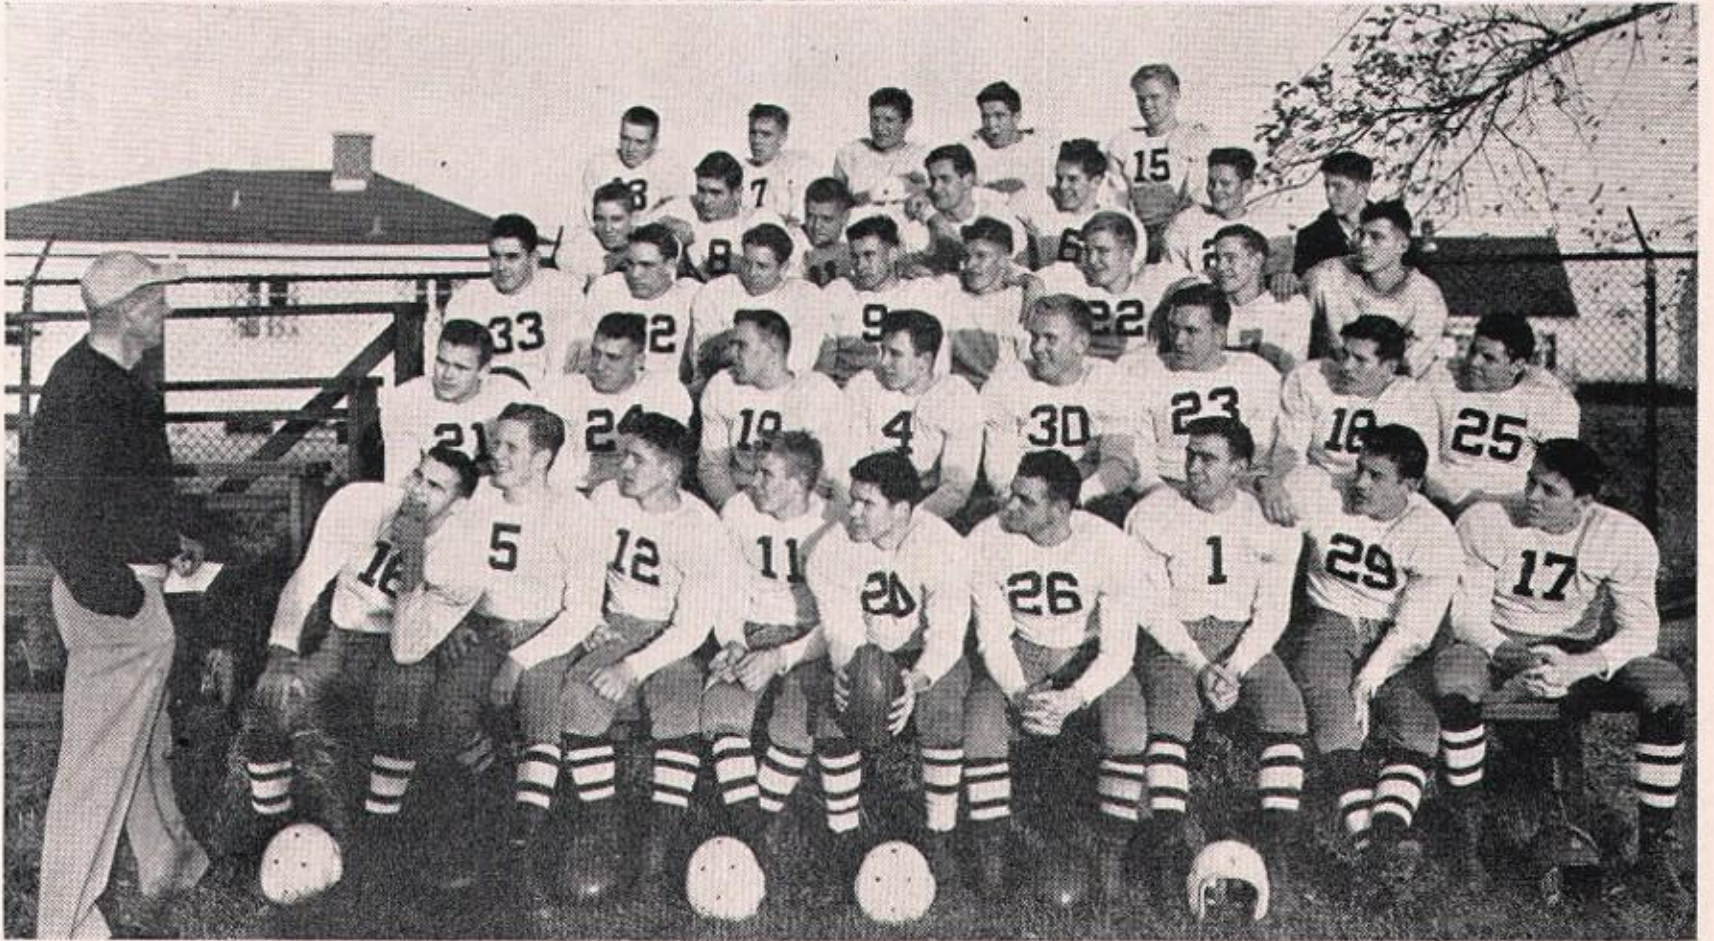

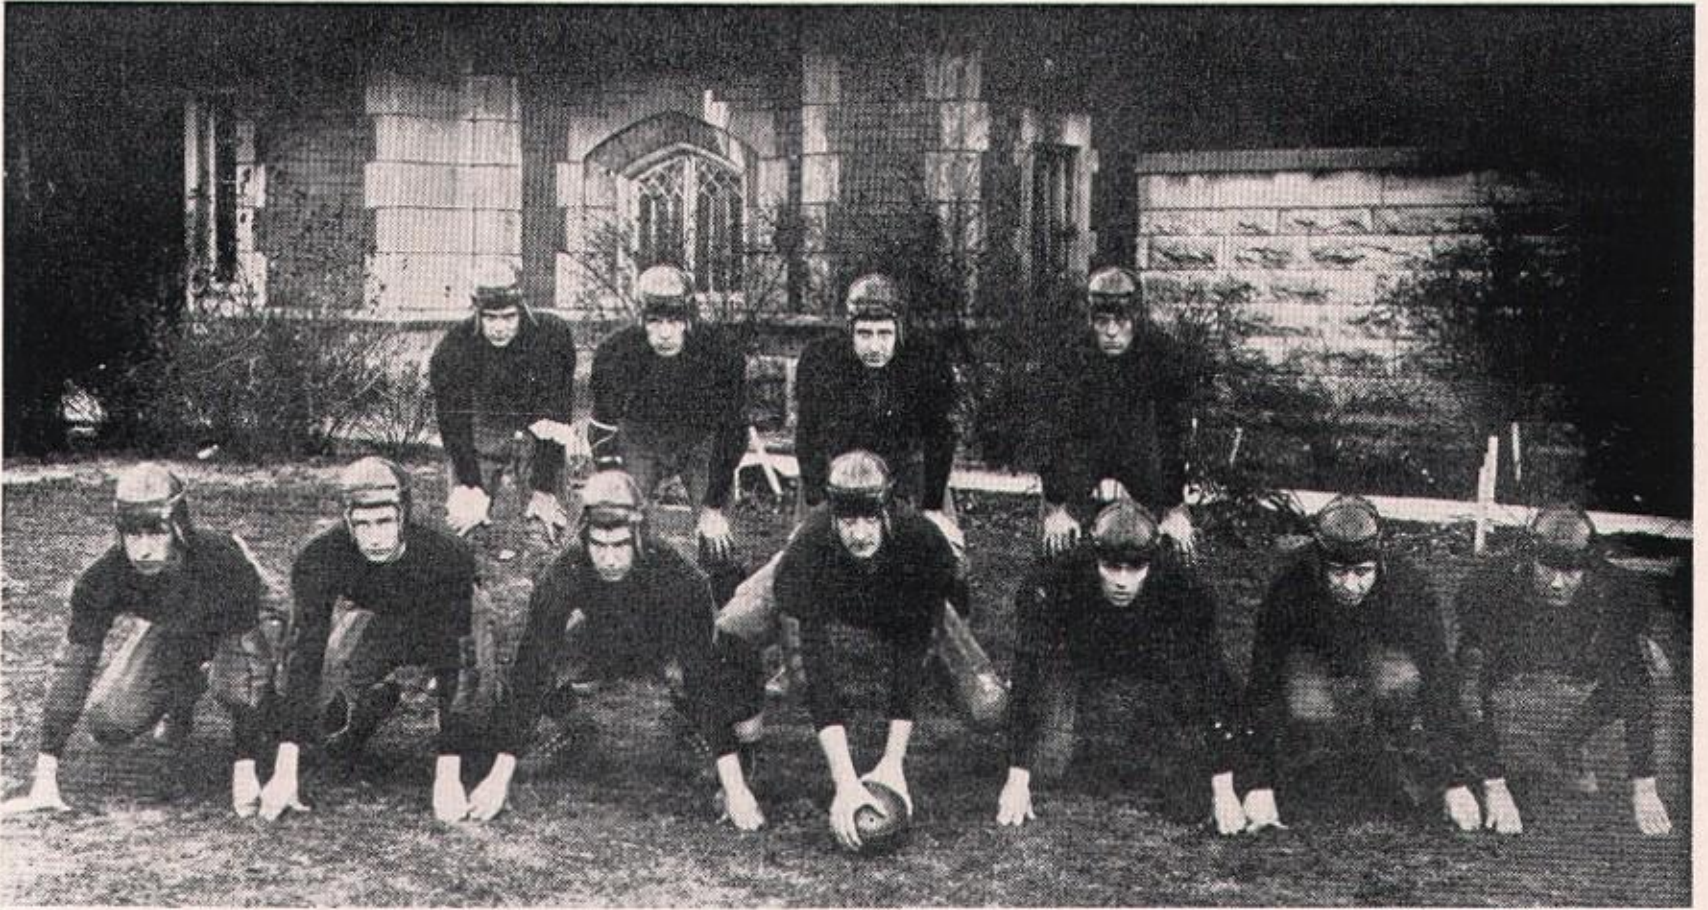

Although the club was new, it proved to be a huge success. It enabled girls who could not participate in some of the more constant activities to enjoy the comradeship and mutual cooperation that this club offered.

This organization has a bright future at L.T. H.S., and no doubt will become one of the traditions of our school.

CHEERLEADERS of 1949-1950: JoAnn Williamson, Mary Dempsey, Patricia Carlock, Lois Grant, Kathleen Roberts, Juanita Boehme, Joyce Ludwig, Betty Carroll, Elaine Melson, Jacqueline Bechler.

ATHLETICS

On the following pages are glimpses of athletic events carried on at Lockport High. Football, basketball, and baseball play an important part in our sports program at present as they did twenty-five years ago. In addition to these, track, intramurals, water safety, and G.A.A. have been added to the sports curriculum.

Although all the events were not victorious, they represented the spirit of sportsmanship and cooperation which has been prevalent at L.T.H.S. for the past twenty-five years.

Playing against some of the strongest teams in Northern Illinois, Lockport's Varsity Football Team finished the season with a poor record of only one victory against seven defeats. The Porters were hampered during the whole season with injuries—averaging about three major injuries per game.

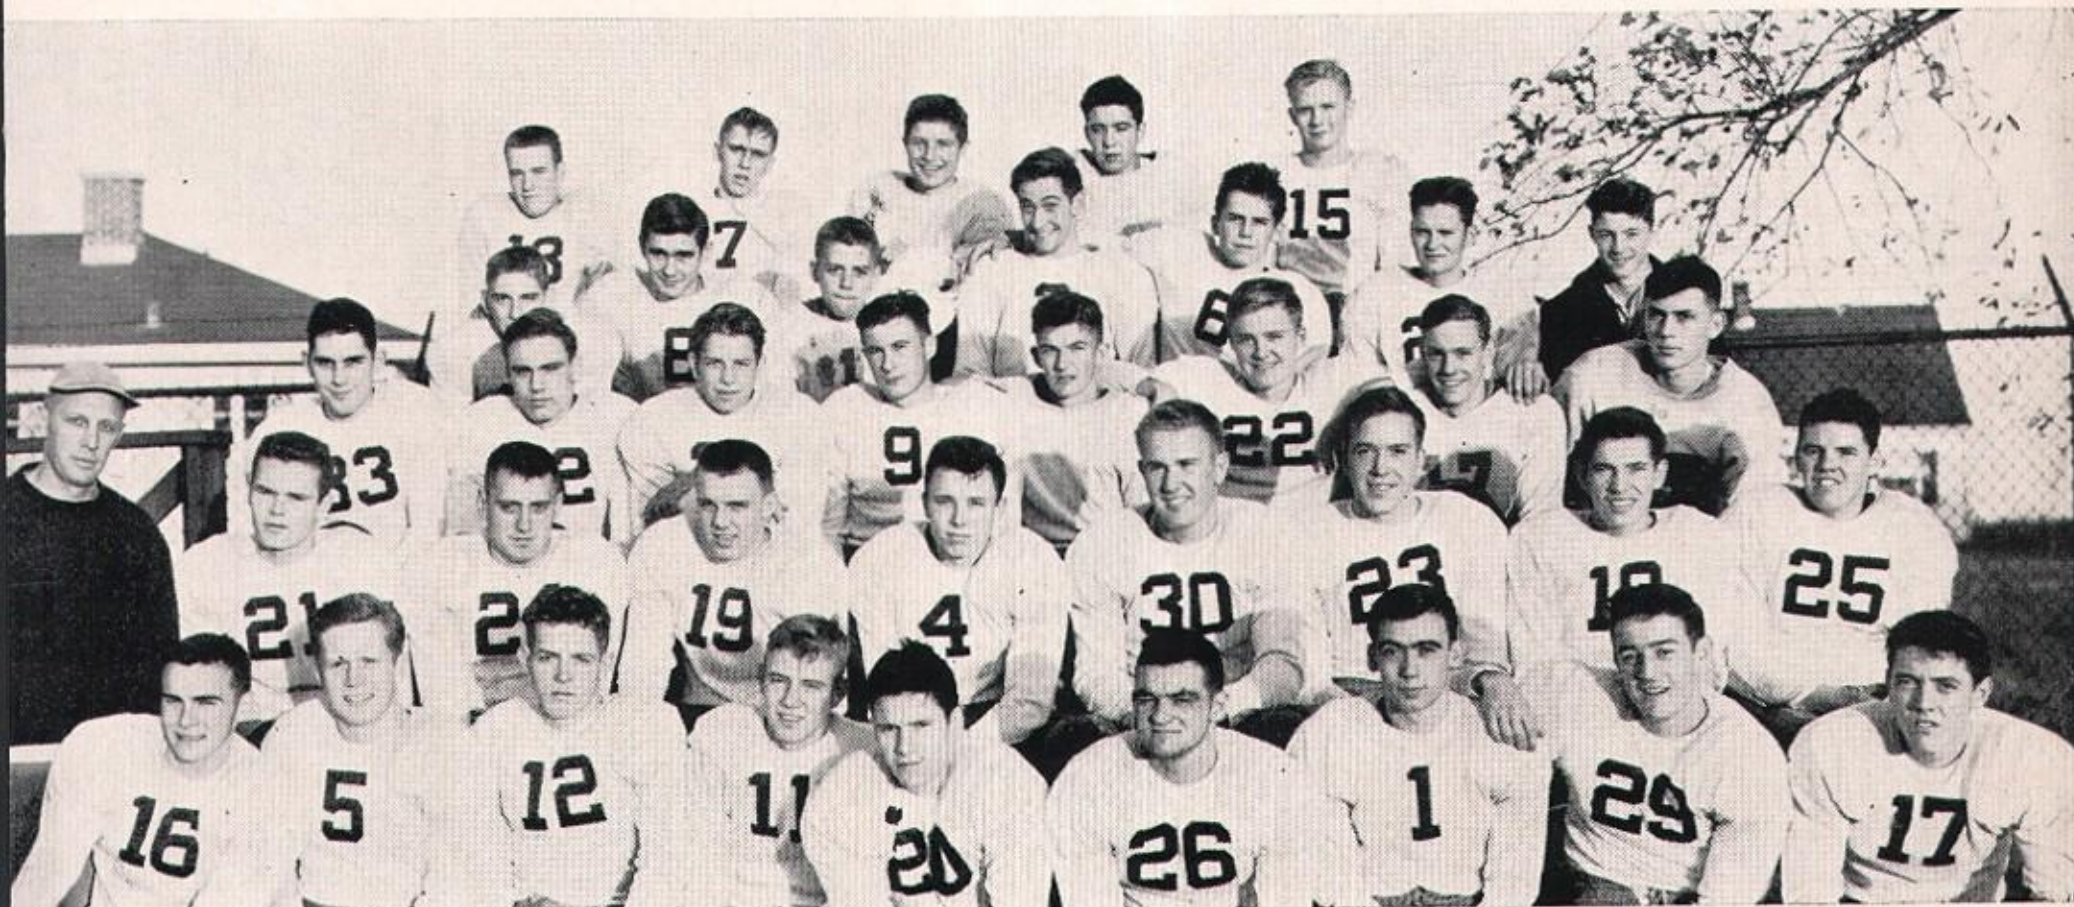

All through the season, the team showed a definite lack of spirit and team play, the climax of which was losing a game to Lemont, the Porters' arch rivals.

At the football banquet, held on November 8, Varsity Coach Lester L. Lindberg awarded letters to Charles Anderson, Alex Artisuk, John Bachmann, Dale Blaesing, Anthony Burcenski, James Butler, Frank Carroll, Robert Ferguson, Joseph

FOOTBALL PHYSICALS

Food Adds New Glamour to Physical Exams . . .

Prior to every football season, each prospective player must be given a physical examination to determine whether he is physically fit to engage in sports. Usually this examination is conducted in the gym office at the school. This year, however, the varsity players were the guests of Coach Lester L. Lindberg at Murphy's Romeo Cafe.

Immediately upon arriving at Murphy's, the boys were given their physicals. Following this, the players were treated to refreshments prepared by Coach Lindberg and his wife.

The consensus of opinion concerning the situation was: "This sure beats waiting for the physical exam in the gym corridor." (Besides, no food was served in the gym corridor!)

FRESH-SOPH FOOTBALL

Underclassmen Set Good Record . . .

Under the capable coaching of Frank J. Rogers, the fresh-soph team, against some very strong opponents, managed to win four ball games while losing only two. Edward Purdy was voted most valuable player by his teammates and Louis Larson was voted honorary captain.

St. Charles 12—Lockport 14

By defeating St. Charles, the Porters won their first game by a score of 14 to 12. The Porters won on a touchdown in the last 30 seconds on a pass to Fitzgerald in the end zone. Alex Artisuk provided the margin of victory by his brilliant kicking.

Batavia 12—Lockport 7

Lockport ran into some stiff opposition at Batavia, and went down in defeat by a 12 to 7 score. The most brilliant play of the game was a 65-yard touchdown run by Halfback Richard Longhini.

Bradley 26—Lockport 7

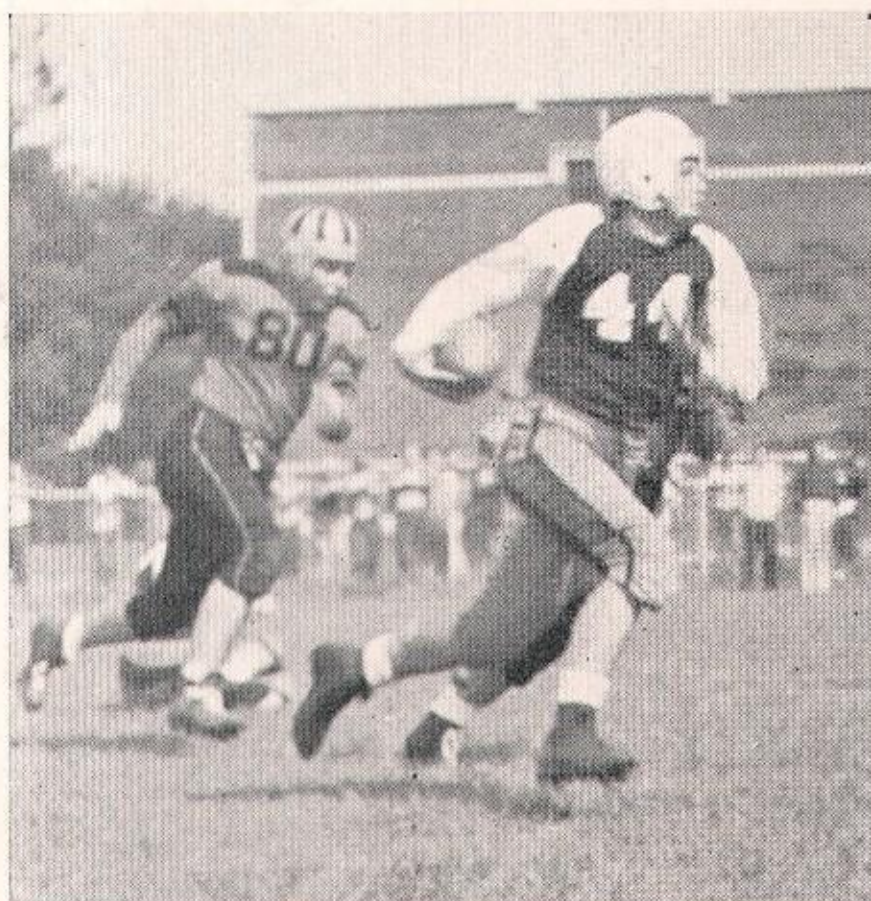

Playing its first home game of the season, under the lights at Lewis College, the Lockport squad ran into some stiff opposition and went down in defeat to a strong Bradley team by a score of 26 to 7.

Pullman Tech 21—Lockport 12

Lockport again went down in defeat; this time at the hands of a tough Pullman eleven. The Porters led at one time by a 12 to 0 score, but could not hold their lead long enough to win the game as Pullman scored 14 points in the final period.

Morris 26—Lockport 0

The Porters met one of the strongest teams in the state when they journeyed to Morris. After a thrilling first half, with Morris leading 6 to 0, the Morris reserve power began to show on the wearying Porters. The opponents scored twice in the third quarter and added another tally for luck in the final period.

Argo 19—Lockport 0

Argo capitalized on three Lockport misplays and scored three touchdowns to trip the Porters by a 19 to 0 score in a game played in a sea of mud. The light Porterbacks could not get started in the mud, but the heavier Argobacks seemed to have an easier time.

Joliet Catholic 12—Lockport 0

Lockport's cripples met their rivals from Joliet Catholic on the Lewis College stadium and went down in defeat 12 to 0. Twice the Porters drove within the ten-yard stripe, but were unable to come through in the clutch.

Lemont 19—Lockport 6

The Porters brought to an end a most dismal season by bowing to their arch rivals, Lemont, by a score of 19 to 6. The game was played in a freezing rain.

Top: Richard Longhini breaks loose for a long gain to set up a score. Middle: Charles Kasper and Rikki Henke close in for the kill, while a St. Charles ball carrier tries to outrun them. Bottom: Donald Krumlinde prepares to intercept a pass from a potential receiver.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Team Learns Meaning of Sportsmanship . . .

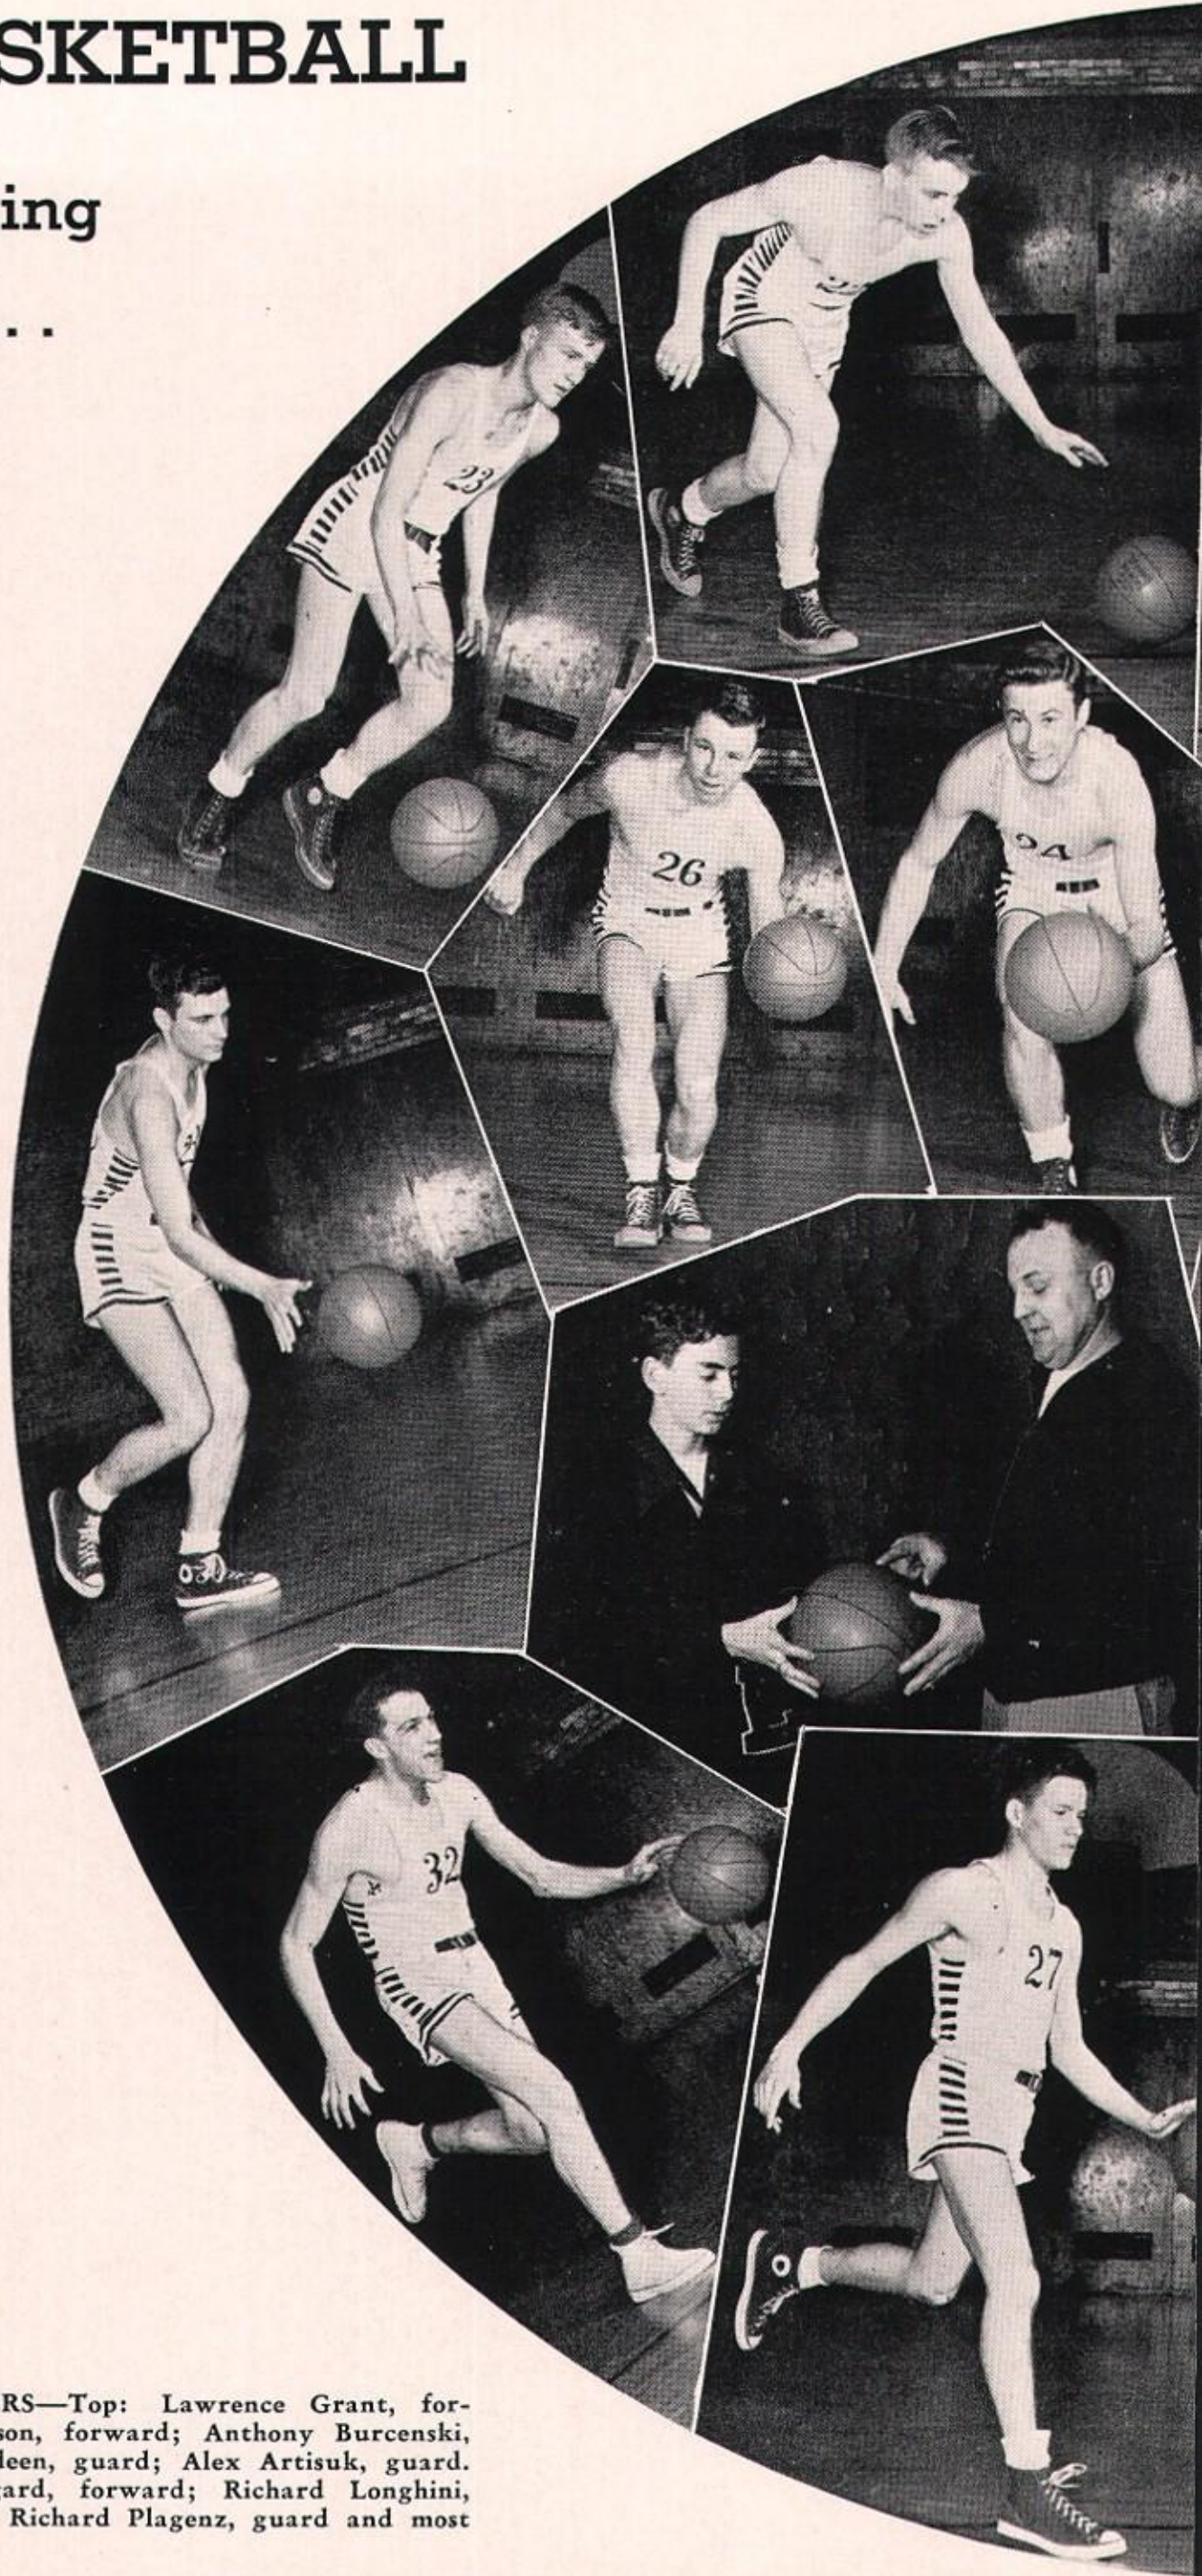

In spite of the fact that the team won only eight of its twenty-two games, the boys learned many things in the recent basketball season. Varsity Coach Frank J. Rogers taught his boys to lose gracefully and still maintain a good spirit.

The team was severely handicapped by the loss of two of the four returning lettermen because of injuries before the season started.

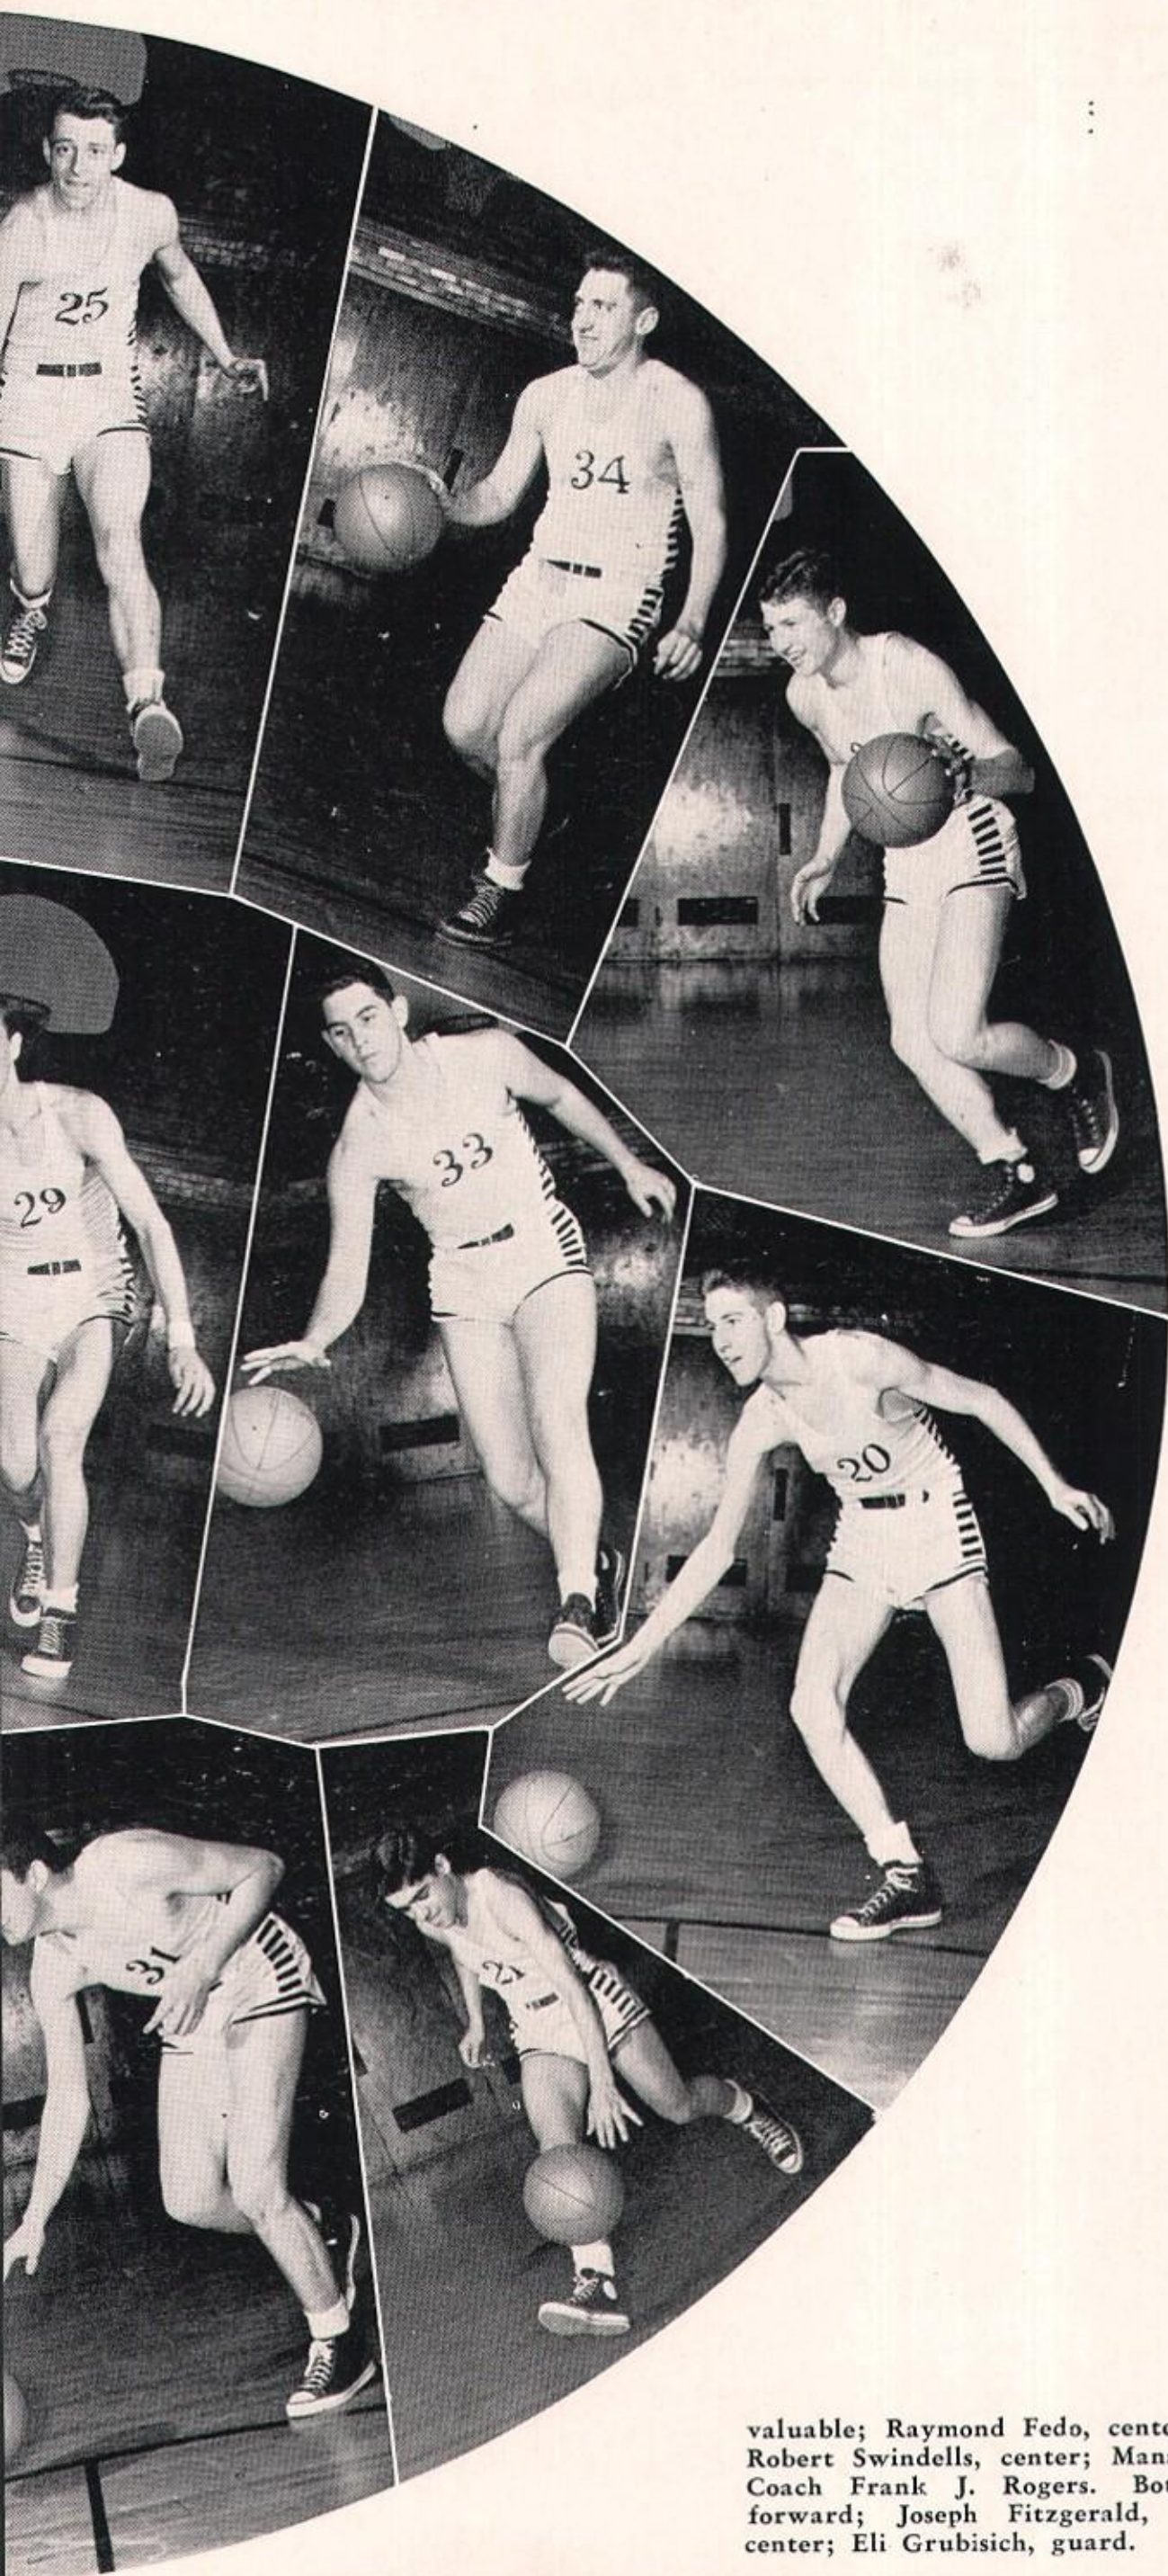

New life was shown towards the end of the season as the team came through to win five of its seven games, upsetting Joliet in the Bloom Regional by a crushing fifty-four to thirty-six score.

Richard Plagenz was voted most valuable player of the season and Richard Longhini was elected honorary captain by their teammates.

Letter winners were: Charles Anderson, Alex Artisuk, Dale Blaesing, Anthony Burcenski, Raymond Fedo, Joseph Fitzgerald, Ely Grubisich, Richard Longhini, Harold McGahey, Richard Plagenz, and Robert Swindells.

FRESH-SOPH BASKETBALL

Beginners Give Previews of Future Varsity Stars . . .

With a definite lack of returning lettermen, Lester L. Lindberg, fresh-soph coach, was handed the task of fashioning a winning combination. Although the team managed to win only six out of nineteen games, several of the members of the team showed great promise of what they will be able to do for L.T.H.S. in the future.

At the end of the season, Kenneth Parzych and Raymond Mondrella were voted most valuable and honorary captain, respectively, by their teammates.

Letters were awarded to the following boys: Dale Carlstrom, Charles Kasper, Louis Larson, Kenneth Parzych, Edward Purdy, Jean Wilson, William Haller, Edward Harvey, Raymond Mondrella, Ronald Murray, and Raymond Salbego.

BASEBALL

Around the Mound . . .

With Edward Flink as varsity mentor, and Frank J. Rogers as fresh-soph coach, both teams are playing a full schedule of games in the South Suburban League, along with several non-conference games. Earlier, bad weather caused the postponement of many games, and the teams have been able only to play a few games as we go to press.

We, of the Lock staff, wish the boys the best of luck in the completion of the following schedules:

ATHLETIC BOARD

Board Determines Athletic Policies . . .

An organization of long standing in L.T.H.S. is the Athletic Board of Control. In existence for twenty-five years, this group has had much to do with the school's functions.

The board, which was composed of representatives from the faculty, athletes, and G.A.A., provided transportation to games, priced tickets, chose new athletic equipment, and gave all-around aid to the teams and different athletic organizations of the school.

ATHLETIC BOARD of CONTROL of 1949-1950: Coaches L. L. Lindberg and F. J. Rogers, J. Bachmann, B. Cronholm, Athletic Director E. Flink, J. Meurer.

Sandeen. (Not photographed: F. Carroll, I. Lindgren, E. Purdy, D. Briick, W. Eaton, B. Fair, E. Harvey, W. Johnson, W. Lohmar, D. Meadows, L. Munch, R. O'Brien, and E. Sly.)

TRACK

Spikes in the Cinders . . .

Amidst rain and cold weather, Coach Lester L. Lindberg issued the first call for track aspirants. As the season draws to a close, out of the near fifty varsity and fresh-sophs who reported, only thirty remain.

Hampered by the elements, lack of a suitable track, and lack of enough promising athletes, Coach Lindberg had enough work to keep three men busy in his efforts to produce a point-scoring aggregation.

The Porters did not compete in any duo meets, but they entered only in triangle meets and one quadrangle meet. Because the schedule has not been completed as we go to press, we are unable to show the results of these meets.

May 26	South Suburban Meet at Kankakee

INTRAMURALS

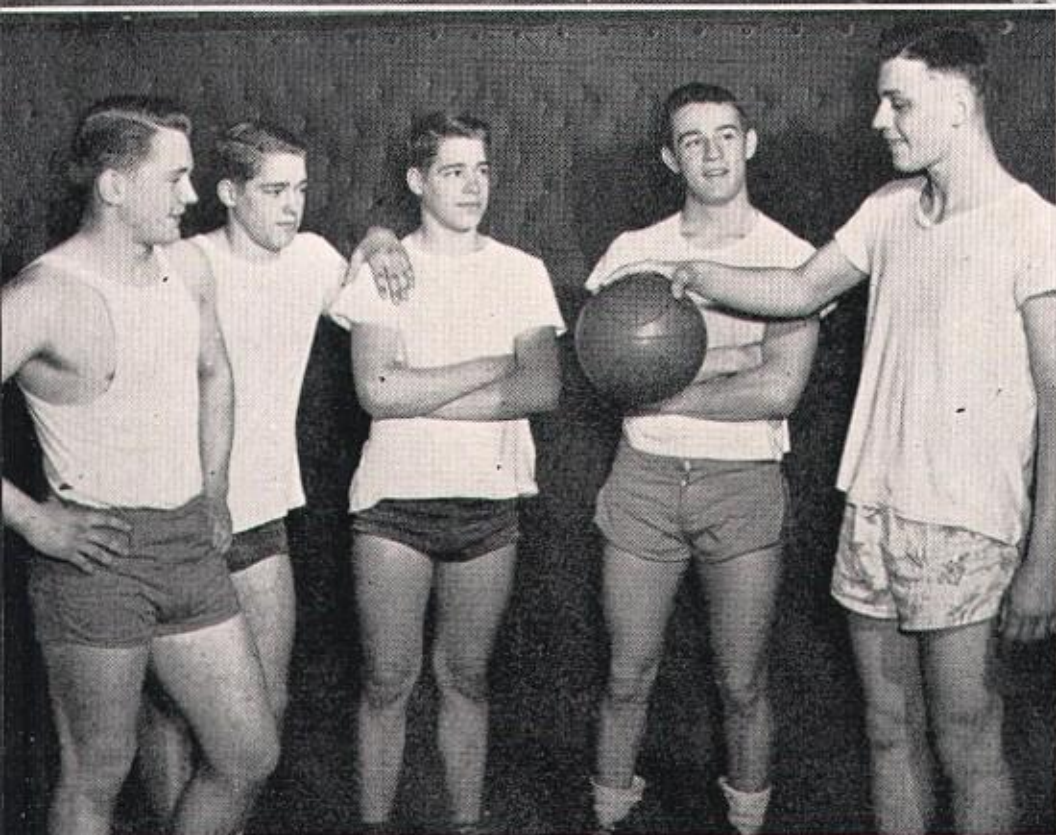

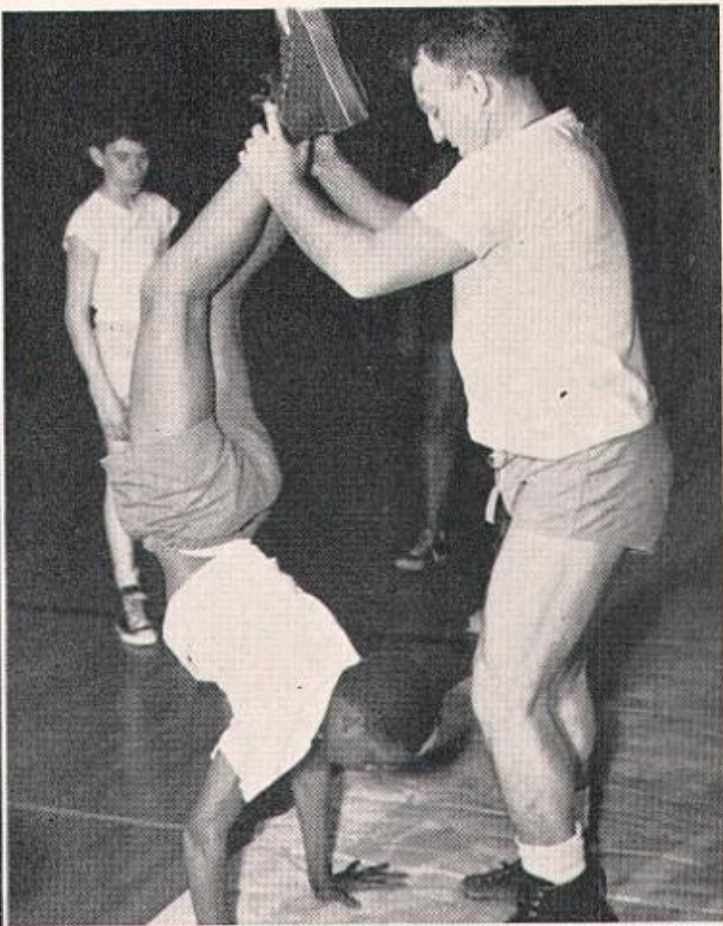

Additional Opportunities Are Provided . . .

When we thought of athletics, we not only recognized the varsity and fresh-soph squads and their games, but also our school program of intramural sports whereby all boys were given a chance to play at the games they loved. In these games the boys learned the rules of good sportsmanship, a quality essential to all great athletes.

Over 100 boys gave up their free time every Monday after school in order to take part in these exciting basketball games. The "North End Hot-shots" walked off with varsity honors while the "Strong Boys" copped the fresh-soph division title. All the boys had a lot of fun and didn't seem to mind giving up their free time.

Frank J. Rogers. Bottom: Varsity intramural winners Russell Young, Donald Young, Ronald Young, and John Thomas watch as teammate Raymond Wook demonstrates to good advantage the use of large hands. Also posing triumphantly are the fresh-soph winners composed of Sam Herr, Vincent McAsey, Douglas Pohlman, Ralph Swanson, and Robert O'Brien.

WATER SAFETY

The Life You Save May Be Your Own . . .

With this thought in mind, a group of girls, under the direction of Edward Flink, learned when and how to use the proper holds of lifesaving. By experimenting on one another, they learned various grips, surface diving, and disrobing in water. Not only was their swimming skill improved in the course, but they were taught how to use common sense, one of the most important things in handling emergencies which might arise in the water.

Red Cross Lifesaving certificates and badges were awarded upon satisfactory completion of the course.

Zuelke, Peggy Chasteen, Ardis Fracaro, Irene Artisuk, Patricia May, Joyce Sweeney, Barbara Cronholm, Sharon Boyer, Carolyn Winkler, Mary Ann Viskocil. (In the water) Barbara Polyak, Joann McClain, Roberta Martin, Virginia Viskocil, and Oma Leinen.

"Plucky Coeds" Keep Busy . . .

Busy! Busy! Busy! Any girl interested in sports found a wide variety to choose from if she was a member of the G.A.A. Not only basketball, volleyball, golf, ping pong, riding, tumbling, bowling, and swimming were offered but, in addition to these, square dancing.

This year's telegraphic bowling team placed second in the state, and the basket shooting team placed third in the district. In the interclass volleyball and basketball tournaments, the sophomores and seniors took top honors.

Social activities of the club started with a "Buddy Picnic" which was held at Dellwood Park. At Christmas time another party was given, and then in April our annual initiation party took place with fun and frolic for all, especially for the new members. Rounding out our social calendar was the "Mother and Daughter Tea" in May.

Our only hope is that the members of the G.A.A. will remember the high ideals of good sportsmanship which this organization has taught them.

Top—G. A. A. Officers: Treasurer Marion Kuebler, President Barbara Cronholm, Secretary Sharon Boyer, and Vice-president Sarah Jean Rini pause while planning a party. Middle: The telegraphic bowling tournament team consisting of (Seated) Peggy Chasteen, Barbara Zuelke, Marion Kuebler, (Standing) Mary Ann Viskocil, and Carol Ann Rodeghero rejoice over their state honors. Bottom: Bowling officers—Winifred Wheatley and Frances Ott, first and second semester treasurers, respectively; and Mary Ann Viskocil and Barbara Zuelke, first and second semester secretaries, respectively—relax between games.
